New Year, New Cars.
Ladies With Wide Hips.
France Gets the Gold.
We're All Richer.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

NINETEEN-THIRTY will be a big year for automobiles and the wise man will meet the year looking his best driving a new car.

H. J. KLINGLER, of General Motors, wires description of a new type of Chevrolet, with more efficient shock absorbers, new Fisher bodies, bigger tires, brakes fully enclosed, greater horse-power and SMALLER PRICES.

The automobile industry leads all American industries in improvement in quality, performance and reduction in cost.

Don't worry about prosperity, but get what you need. One thing is a new car to double the value of your time and double self-approval, that stimulates effort.

So much the better for San Francisco and its future generation.

The mothers of great men, from Charlemagne to Lincoln, from Alexander's mother, Olympias, who danced with snakes wrapped around her, no other clothing, to the mother of Renan with good peasant blood, you will find REAL HIPS, something substantial, not an osteological anatomical specimen of pelvic depression.

WALL STREET put its sore shoulder to the wheel of 1930 with considerable energy yesterday. In accordance with Secretary Mellon's prediction, money was "easy" and the day finished with a brisk rise in prices.

SOME worry because gold is going abroad. Seven million two hundred and fifty thousand dollars will be shipped to France on the Berengaria today, making a total shipment of $105,000,000 gold for the month.

You admire French financiers when you hear that they got $80,000,000 of that gold.

How do the French do it? They WORK and they SAVE.

AS your debts diminish, you automatically become richer. The people of the United States became richer by about a thousand million dollars, during 1929.

Mr. Mellon's statement shows that in twelve months the national debt has been reduced by one billion and nine million dollars.

If Uncle Sam collected his foreign debts, as efficiently as he collects from taxpayers at home, we'd be clear of debt soon.

IN Germany Mennonite refugees from Russia, encamped with their children, are stricken with a strange disease. Forty children died in a few hours. Many were sacrificed because their mothers hid them from doctors, following a Mennonite custom of substituting prayer for medical attention.

That method no longer works. "Know the truth, and the truth shall make you free," includes scientific medical truth.

THE son of Italy's King will soon be married and 6,000 will be freed from prisons, by way of celebration.

What seems strange in America, is a custom old in Europe.

After Admiral Nelson brought his ship into the Bay of Naples, promising to protect the king and queen and their court against the power of the French revolution, many convicts were set free to celebrate.

And kings, on mounting the throne, have often emptied prisons as a sign of joy.

THE National Surety Company has issued a policy of $30,000, guaranteeing against the suicide of a man insured, within the next two years. The man borrowed money The bank lending it wanted the added security.

That's new in insurance.

BLAZE STIRS RUMORS; QUESTION ARTIST

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—A searching investigation into the cause of the mystery fire which swept a portion of the House document room and the artist's model room of the national Capitol early last night, was instituted today by David Lynn, architect of the Capitol.

Charles Moberly, artist, in whose studio the fire began, was questioned by Lynn, but he threw little light upon the origin of the blaze.

Moberly, who was found unconscious in his smoke-filled room by firemen, said he did not know how the fire began, and told Lynn that he seldom used cigarets, but smoked a pipe or cigar occasionally. The theory has been entertained that a cigaret, cigar or match carelessly tossed away might have smouldered until it burst into flame.

Congress may also be brought into the inquiry as a result of the rumors growing out of the blaze, it was indicated. Lynn expressed the opinion that congressional committees concerned with the management of the Capitol may inquire into the fire.

DAMAGE SLIGHT

The damage was estimated at from $1,000 to $3,000, but the full extent was not expected to be determined until danger of seepage of water through the five-foot walls of the Capitol had passed.

Because the house document and artist's model rooms were separated only by a thin partition it was difficult to determine just where the fire started. Lynn, after an examination said that

All their clothing and furniture was destroyed in the blaze, which razed their home and that of Herbert Conway, next door.

Loss was estimated at $10,000.

Cain Takes His Oath Before War Comrade

Robert Cain was sworn in an sheriff of Allegheny county today by his former comrade in the Spanish American war and lifelong friend, Judge D. Paulson Foster, of the county court.

Mayor Charles H. Kline sat with Judge Paulson and five other judges of the Common Pleas and County courts as the oath was administered in the assignment room of County court. Several hundred friends and political associates of the new sheriff witnessed the ceremony.

3 NEW CLUES IN MURDER HUNT

Pittsburgh police had three clues today to the trail of Mrs. Irene Schroeder, blonde mother who is sought, along with Glenn Dague, in the investigation of the murder of Corp. Brady Paul, of the state highway patrol.

One of the clues was an auto, bearing Ohio license plates, which was abandoned last night in Venture street, North Side. Residents told police that a man and a woman were seen leaving the auto hurriedly and walking away.

ONE CLUE FAILS

A second clue was supplied by Philip Becker, of 7558 Susquehanna street, who said a woman answering the so-called "trigger woman's" description had applied unsuccessfully to his home for a room.

Another tip failed last night. When police were told that Mrs. Schroeder and Dague were hiding in a Coltart avenue rooming house they hurried to the house and found a couple, but not the one they sought.

Police broadcast a description of an auto which W. Wedgemere, of 1423 Westfield avenue, Beechview, said contained couple

Austin, Ford Trade Jokes Over 'Flivver' Rivalry

Sir Herbert Austin, British motor car manufacturer, who is about to compete with Henry Ford in the small car market, mentioned on his arrival in Pittsburgh today that he had luncheon at Dearborn yesterday with Mr. and Mrs. Ford and Edsel Ford.

"We chaffed each other about being business rivals," Sir Herbert said, "and had quite a bit of fun out of it."

Sir Herbert was accompanied to Pittsburgh by A. J. Brandt, president of the American Austin Car Company, and E. J. Leach, manager of the works at Butler, where the Austin is to be produced. Brandt formerly was vice president of the Oakland-Pontiac division of General Motors.

Sir Herbert said production would be started at the Butler plant in April; that the company expected to turn out from 50,000 to 100,000 cars this year, and that the price would be fixed in a few days.

He said he thought the Austin would fill a need in the United States as a delivery car in which parcels could be delivered by retail merchants. It will be economical of operation, he said, and will have the advantage o being easily maneuvered for parking purposes on crowded streets.

Sir Herbert expects no radical changes in the mechanism or appearance of motor cars. The type now established has become standardized, he said. The gearless car invented in England a year or two ago was a failure, he said.

Sir Herbert said he saw no prospect of the invention of a puncture proof tire, but remarked, with a smile, that someone might find a way to change a tire, while the car was in motion, by merely pressing a button.

16 Get P. R. R. Refunds Ready For Thousands

Sixteen persons had applied to the Pennsylvania Railroad up to today for refund of money spent for transportation downtown as a result of the railroad's inability to run trains into the Pennsylvania Station on December 21. All of the 16 said they left their trains at East Liberty, 14 completing their journeys in taxicabs, while two used street cars. The money, amounting to a total of about $15, was promptly given them.

The railroad announced it would refund taxi and trolley fare to all passengers compelled to use these methods of transportation as a result of the crippling of the railroad service on December 21. Thousands are eligible.

REFER KILLINGS TO CONGRESS

B ROBERT S. THORNBURGH,
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Evidences of a decided difference of attitude at the Treasury Department as to use of force in prohibition enforcement and a tendency to refer complaints to Congress rather than make explanations, were seen today.

Following the strong backing of the Coast Guard, which killed three rum runners off the Rhode Island Coast, advanced by Secretary Mellon, it was learned that officials did not intend to give much heed to protests against forceful enforcement, even to the extent of use of firearms, where it appeared the government agents are justified.

In some cases where complaints have been received as to alleged undue force in enforcement, the protestants have been referred to their representatives and senators with the statement that Congress has enacted the laws and the Treasury is making an effort to enforce them.

MAYOR'S KIN SLATED FOR CITY JOB

Brother-in-Law Picked to Fill Vacated Chairmanship of Civil Service Commission

Mayor Charles H. Kline will keep one political plum in the family, according to the best informed political circles.

He will appoint his brother-in-law, Dr. S. H. Johnson, as president of the Civil Service Commission to succeed Dr. F. H. Frederick, who resigned last fall to manage Mayor Kline's campaign, was the prediction.

Dr. Johnson is a medical practitioner with an office at 4066 Penn avenue. His home is at 316 Gross street.

CADUGAN SLATED

David D. Cadugan, of the Twenty-seventh Ward, chief clerk in the county road division, will receive a majority of votes in Council sufficient to elect him director of the North Side Carnegie Library at $4,500 a year, unless all signs fail.

The position is now held by Clifford B. Connelley, who will resign the library job before taking the oath of office as a member of Council next Monday.

Cadugan is a relative of Assemblyman Samuel J. Grenet, Republican chairman of the Twenty-seventh Ward, and his selection is believed to be due in part at least to the fact that the ward is to lose patronage in the expected discharge of Police Magistrate George H. England.

SCHNEIDER BOOMED

Last fall England supported President of Council James F. Malone for mayor in opposition to Mayor Charles H. Kline, and Grenet is said to have demanded England's political scalp.

North Side Republican leaders went into caucus over England's expected vacancy and are said to have agreed to ask Mayor Kline to give the police magistrate's job to Alderman Ray E. Schneider, of the Twenty-third Ward.

In order to compensate the Twenty-seventh Ward, the North Side group has agreed upon Cadugan for librarian, and the Mayor will co-operate to the fullest extent, according to report.

While Mayor Kline will not have a vote on Cadugan's nomination, he is expected to be able to deliver at least seven of the nine votes of Council.

AIRMAN'S BRIDE ASKS DIVORCE

PARIS, Jan. 4.—(AP.)—Pauline Parker, New York chorus girl, has haled Jean Assolant, her French trans-Atlantic aviator husband, into the divorce court.

The Paris edition of the New York Herald Tribune today said Mme. Assolant appeared yesterday in a Paris court and filed suit for divorce, charging cruelty and unfaithfulness. The judge issued a summons for the couple to appear January 24 to discuss Mme. Assolant's demands for alimony.

The two were married last June at Old Orchard, Me., just prior to Assolant's flight with Rene Lefevre in the Yellow Bird for Paris—a flight which ended later at Santander, Spain. Neither knew the other's language at the time of the marriage and when Mme. Assolant went to Paris difficulties between them were said to have arisen immediately.

Boy Flees Detention Home Second Time in Week

A barefoot boy, dressed in a nightgown and carrying his cap in his hand, escaped from the Juvenile Court detention rooms in Oakland during a heavy snowstorm last night.

The boy escaped with the aid of friends on the outside. He forced a second-floor window, slid down a porch pillar and into an auto which was awaiting him outside the home.

This was his second escape. Ten boys, all alleged bandits, got away Wednesday. He and two others were captured. He was willing to return, he told police, so that he might escape again.

Auto Carrying High School Basketball Teams Struck On Way Home From Games

WOOSTER, O., Jan. 4.—(AP.)—Helpless victims of a speeding train and a blinding sleet storm, seven young basketball players were dead and eight other high school boys and girls were in hospitals today.

The dead boys, all of them between 14 and 18 years of age, were members of the high school team of Burbank, near here. They were on their way home, happy over defeating their old rivals at Big Prairie, another nearby village, when a Pennsylvania Railroad express train struck their bus at a crossing near Shreve, 10 miles south of here, last night.

CLAUDE REPP, 16.
WAYNE LEHHAN, 14.
EMIL TIMIC, 16.
WILLARD BAKER, 14.

The most seriously injured were Edith Repp, who suffered fractures of both legs and may die, and Lola Talley, sister of one of the dead, who received a broken leg. The others injured, most of whom suffered cuts and bruises, are Charles Packard, Donald Lehman, Alice West, Ellen Cowhick, Grace Flory, Maurice Lenz, coach of the basketball team, and Joseph Baker, 50, driver of the bus.

AID RUSHED TO SCENE

The crumpled bus was carried down the track 100 feet and bodies were strewn four times that distance as the banter and gaiety of the youngsters was changed to shrieks and the smashing of steel and splintering of wood. Ambulances were called from Wooster and raced perilously over the ice-covered highway to take the injured to Wooster's two hospitals.

Baker, the bus driver, was overcome and unable to give any coherent explanation of what happened. He could not remember whether he stopped before climbing the incline to the crossing. The crossing at the hour of the accident—after 10 o'clock—is pro-

CONGRESS MUST TACKLE RUM, TARIFF, RAIL PROBLEMS

LONG WEEKS OF LABOR AHEAD

Prohibition Spectre Will Stalk Through Capitol Until Solution Is Found

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON,
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Prohibition, tariff and railroad consolidation legislation occupied the headlines today on the legislative program awaiting the return of Congress from its holiday vacation.

When the House and Senate reassemble Monday, they will face six or seven months of legislative activity before the first session ends. They will have to deal with the prohibition problem, with its intricate and highly acrimonious issue over enforcement, enact the pending tariff bill, dispose of the railroad consolidation question and pass upon a dozen other equally argumentative issues.

The annual supply bills, carrying about $4,500,000,000 to finance the government next year, must be enacted too, the House having passed but two thus far and the Senate having acted on none.

PROHIBITION QUARREL

The prohibition row will come to the fore when the treasury appropriation bill is considered, since it carries the funds for the prohibition unit, the Coast Guard and the border patrols, all intimately identified with prohibition enforcement.

In the Senate, the tariff will have the right of way until passed. After that, the rewritten Senate bill must be sent to conference to iron out differences with the House. Administration leaders hope to send the measure to conference by the end of February and to have it written into law by April 1.

The prohibition controversy will hold the spotlight continuously, though, since a congressional committee will be created within a week or two to pass upon all additional legislation needed to improve prohibition enforcement. It will be this committee's duty to sponsor legislation carrying out the recommendations of President Hoover's law-enforcement commission.

SHOALS TO FORE

Once the tariff is out of the way in the Senate, that body will take up Muscle Shoals legislation. The administration leaders already have promised this action, since the government's $100,000,000 power project at Muscle Shoals has been a "white elephant" on their hands for many years. The Senate probably will order it either leased to private industry under strict safeguards or authorize its full operation by a government corporation.

Prison reform legislation meanwhile will be handled by the House. The erection of new prisons to relieve overcrowding and the initiation of other reforms in prison management has been proposed as a remedy for the conditions, which provoked a series of prison outbreaks last year. The subject will be carefully considered at both ends of the Capitol, since both House and Senate were stirred by the prison riots last year.

A whole host of other subjects must be considered, too, including the proposed new communications bill, placing telephones, the telegraph, cables and radio under one Federal commission; the reorganization of governmental departments; a rivers and harbors improvement bill and the new Federal program for public buildings and Federal roads.

MANY INQUIRIES

There will be the usual quota of investigations, particularly in the Senate, with the lobby, stock exchange, farm relief and cotton relief inquiries heading the list. Some of these investigations, especially the lobby inquiry, will require legislative action, when the investigating committees make their final reports.

The field of foreign affairs will call likewise for Congressional action, particularly if the London conference results in a new disarmament agreement. The Senate meanwhile will have to pass upon all treaties, although its greatest problem in foreign affairs—final disposition of the world court protocol—probably will not be submitted to it by President Hoover before 1931.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 4.—Removal of 4-year-old Donnie Schroeder into a county orphanage for safe keeping until the apprehension of his mother, Mrs. Irene Schroeder, and her two male companions, loomed as a possibility today as the investigation of the slaying of Corp. Brady Paul went into its second week.

Fearing reprisals on the part of friends of the so-called blonde "Trigger Woman" and her two gunmen companions, authorities who deem it wise to keep close watch on the child, are today considering the advisability of placing him in a county institution. At the present time is in custody of one of the Lawrence County officials who has taken the child into his home.

GUARD STRENGTHENED

Repeated attempts on the part of unknown persons to communicate with certain county officials and with business man who has befriended the little fellow has aroused the suspicions of state police and other officials in the investigation.

For the past several days, it has been known that some one in New Castle has been trying to reach the child.

Since his identification of an artist's sketch of his mother and a photograph of W. Glenn Dague, one of her alleged companions, the guard over the boy has been doubled.

Capt. Jacob Mauk, commanding officer of Troop D, Pennsylvania state police, who is in charge of the investigation, revealed today that the child was the most important link in the chain of evidence closing in around the woman and her two companions.

"The child's identification of these pictures lays the crime at the feet of these suspects for whom we are searching," he said, "and our case against them is complete beyond a reasonable doubt."

Of progress in the investigation, Capt. Mauk had little to say other than that he was satisfied.

"Of course," he continued, "we have had several bad breaks in the manner the fugitives have eluded authorities in two states, but they always make mistakes and sooner or later they will slip into our net."

The New Castle detail of state police investigated a "tip" early this morning in Youngstown. A woman and two men were under surveillance in the Ohio city, but they were able to satisfy the officers that they had no connection with the case and were subsequently released.

Another woman was brought from the vicinity of Erie, where state troopers had kept her under observation for several days. She answered the general description of the "blonde trigger woman," according to police, but it was not believed that she had anything to do with the slaying. She was questioned by authorities here and at Butler.

Patrolman Ernest Moore, wounded in the gun battle in which Corp. Paul was slain, has returned to Troop B barracks at Greensburg while recuperating from his wounds. He will remain at the barracks for several weeks, according to his superior officers, and then return to duty at some other sub station.

Admiral F. C. Billard, commandant of the Coast Guard, and Assistant Secretary Seymour Lowman, in charge of enforcement, took on something of a defiant tone, to the effect that the laws were on the statute books and that the Treasury simply was trying to carry them out and planned to use the force necessary.

Officials said there was not the slightest intention of having the prohibition, customs and coast guard agents throw away their machine guns, rifles and pistols because they were operating against a desperate class of criminals that frequently approximates actual warfare.

U.S. PROSPERITY PLEDGES NEAR 5 BILLIONS

Steel Orders Already Show Big Gains, Hoover Told; List Increasing Daily

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—(AP.)—President Hoover contemplated today — and found encouraging—the results of his drive to boost construction and improvement work in an effort to absorb unemployment.

Three major lines of American business endeavors submitted a budget of $4,700,000,000 for 1930. This, with many items still to be added, gave promise that the total to be expended during the year would be larger than that for 1929.

The largest amount was that of public utilities and telephone companies, but the total of public works continued to grow with 19 states untouched in the survey and 13 others only partially covered. Sixteen states were complete.

The public utility and telephone groups fixed their estimate at $2,100,000,000; public works, including those of the federal government, reached $1,500,000,000, and railroads set a total of $1,050,000,000.

In addition to these, Mr. Hoover pointed out that this total did not include industrial and factory improvements or building construction. A special committee was set up at the December Conference of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to make a survey of the prospects in these fields.

The effects of the drive, the chief executive was told by the steel companies, already is beginning to show in their orders which already have grown to a volume beyond their expectations.

The American Federation of Labor, in its monthly business survey, said today that employment probably would be low for the first few months of the year, but would improve later.

NEW YORK FETES GEN. SMUTS

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—(INS.)—General Jan Christian Smuts, one time premier of South Africa and one of the creators of the League of Nations, was to arrive in New York from Canada today in time to fill a busy program.

At noon he is to be guest of honor at a luncheon arranged by 32 American organizations interested in the League of Nations. At a reception and tea to be given by the Bar Association later in the day, General Smuts will speak on the World Court.

Tomorrow afternoon there will be a mass meeting at the Metropolitan Opera House at which General Smuts will speak on the World Court. Newton D. Baker, secretary of war in the Wilson cabinet, and Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, will also make addresses.

tected only by a bell and flash signal. Coach Lenz and those of the injured who were able to talk likewise did not know what occurred before the rushing train was upon them. Pennsylvania Railroad officials at Shreve said apparently Baker had not seen the train coming through the storm and started across directly in front of it.

The tragedy hit hard at Burbank, a town of only 500 people. Every one knew the boys and girls on the basketball teams and many had journeyed to cheer for them at Big Prairie. The fans started home ahead of the players, who had to have time to change clothes, eager to tell how the boys' team had defeated their old enemies although the girls lost.

Word of the accident traveled rapidly, however, and soon the hospitals and undertaking establishments here were filled with the better part of Burbank's residents, mothers and fathers rushing anxiously from place to place to find their sons and daughters.

Start Inquiry in Bus Collision Injuring 10

BELLEVUE, O., Jan. 4.—(INS.)—Investigation was started here today into a bus crash late yesterday, in which 10 persons were injured, four of them seriously.

The bus plunged into a four-foot ditch after having skidded on an ice-coated road and having collided with a heavy freight truck.

According to witnesses, the driver of the bus put on the brakes in order to avoid hitting an automobile ahead of him. In doing so, the bus skidded, swinging the rear of the coach into the path of an east-bound freight truck. The truck smashed head-on, plunging the bus into the ditch.

Four of the injured persons were taken to Bellevue Hospital where they were treated for injuries. Six other persons were treated for minor injuries at the scene of the crash. There were more than 40 passengers in the bus.

The four taken to Bellevue Hospital are Mrs. Martha Morris, 72, of Detroit; Miss Lois Ordway, 24, of Ann Arbor, Mich.; Earl Fohl, 25, of Aspers, Pa., and Peter Galindo, 31, of Detroit. All are expected to recover.

Federal Prosecutor's Refusal To Turn Over Guards in Rum Killing Stirs Row

International News Service.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 4.—Federal and state prosecution authorities were at odds today over the killing of three alleged liquor smugglers by Coast Guard machine gun fire on the power cruiser Black Duck.

On the heels of the refusal of United States Attorney Henry M. Boss, Jr., to order the crew of the Coast Guard Patrol Boat No. 290, which fired on the Black Duck, to appear at a state inquest when sessions are resumed on Monday, came the announcement today that Attorney General Oscar L. Heltzen, of Rhode Island, had ordered the crew haled before a Newport County Grand Jury next week.

Federal Attorney Boss had turned over to state prosecution authorities the names of the men of the No. 290, but inasmuch as they are in Connecticut, at the New London Coast Guard base, and on federal reservation, the state is unable to summon them for the inquest.

When he heard this, the Rhode Island attorney general said:

"All right; we'll get them without the assistance of the federal district attorney. If the facts justify the contention that the Coast Guard was criminally negligent, we will try to have the grand jury indict the crew of No. 290 on charges of voluntary manslaughter."

BAR ON HEFLIN CONDEMNED

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 4.—(AP.)—A resolution censuring the Alabama Democratic executive committee for its action in baring persons who actively opposed the party's 1928 presidential ticket from participating as candidates in the 1930 primary, and demanding that it rescind its action by February 1, was adopted at a mass meeting here last night.

Ben F. Ray, member of the state executive committee from Birmingham, drafted the resolution, which was seconded by Hugh A. Locke, gubernatorial candidate, who with United States Senator J. Thomas Heflin, was barred from the Democratic primary by the committee's action.

In an address Senator Heflin said that the committee's action was the work of a "handful of corporation lawyer members of the committee seeking to gain control of the State Legislature and force sanction of Democratic voters as a whole of Alfred E. Smith as their standard bearer."

FIREMEN HURT IN COLLISION

Two firemen were slightly injured after 4 a. m. today when their engine collided with an automobile at Fifth and Penn avenues while they were responding to a fire in a restaurant at Penn and Highland avenues.

They were Daniel Kelley, 30, of 370 Main street, and Alfred Hanley, 40, of 5323 Broad street, members of Engine Company No. 16, at Penn and Lang avenues. They were taken to Pittsburgh Hospital by a passing automobile driver.

Thomas Wilson, 60, of 901 South avenue, Wilkinsburg, driver of the car with which the engine collided, was arrested by East End police on a charge of reckless driving, and later released on bond of $1,000. Police said he was driving ahead of the truck and made a left-hand turn from Penn into Fifth avenue, driving in front of the engine.

Two New Castle Churches Robbed

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 4.—Thieves robbed two churches and a Pennzoil Service Station here. At the Arlington Avenue Free Methodist Church $5 was taken from the Poor Fund box in the vestibule of the church and $1 belonging to another fund. At the Epworth M. E. Church candy was stolen. In both churches, the thieves did considerable damage in breaking locks on cupboards and bookcases while seeking money.

Cigars, cigarets and chewing gum were taken at the Pennzoil Station.

Air Fields Lighted To Aid Plane Adrift

Flying officials in the Pittsburgh district late last night attempted to run down reports that an airplane, apparently in distress, had been heard in the vicinity of Monessen, and later in Mt. Lebanon.

Flood lights at Bettis Field were turned on after telephone calls concerning the plane. No official report of any planes en route to Pittsburgh had been received at the field, officials said.

Batteries Gone, Legless Newsie Uses Old Car

George Wilhelm, legless North Side newsie, is selling newspapers today in the old, hand-propelled wheel chair in which he held his post on Federal street for many years.

Never able to walk because both his legs were amputated when he was a youngster, North Siders have bought newspapers from him for nearly 20 years. Over a year ago, Wilhelm bought himself an electrically-driven wheel chair, that he might cover his rounds from home to work and back more easily.

Last month, an appeal to a wealthy benefactress brought him a new set of batteries to replace his fast failing ones.

With difficulty, he made his way home to change batteries.

The new set had been stolen. While Wilhelm, lacking funds to buy new ones, propells the old hand-driven truck through North Side streets, police are looking for the lost batteries.

BELGIAN PRINCESS' WEDDING TRAIN ON SECRET ROUTE

HUGE CROWD CHEERS START

Marie Jose to Wed Italian Prince Wednesday; Due in Rome Tomorrow Morning

International News Service.

BASLE, Switzerland, Jan. 4.—The royal special carrying Princess Marie Jose to Rome for her wedding to crown Prince Humbert on Wednesday arrived here at 10:40 a. m. today after an all-night trip from Brussels.

During the brief stop-over, the Belgian royal family could be seen breakfasting in the dining car of the sumptuous train.

THREE TRAINS EN ROUTE

The train was preceded by two other specials when it left Brussels at 9:30 o'clock last night. These two trains were reserved for special guests and prominent government representatives going to the wedding.

An hour and a quarter after their departure the trains crossed the Belgian border into France. A few minutes before midnight, the trains passed through Charleville, France.

An enormous crowd waited outside the railway station in Brussels for hours in hope of seeing the bride-to-be depart. Cordons of police had great difficulty in keeping the cheering populace behind barriers which had been erected to insure the royal party easy passage and minimize danger from a possible assailant in the throng.

LOADED WITH GIFTS

Few princesses ever have traveled to their weddings in a foreign country as is Princess Marie Jose. The royal train, put at the disposal of the Belgian royal family for the occasion by King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, is gorgeously outfitted.

The princess occupies the private car of her future husband. Bouquets of flowers and thousands of gifts from well-wishers fill the royal train and two other specials.

Every precaution for the safety of the bridal party has been taken along the route the trains are following.

LEAGUE COURT FOES GAIN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Senator Arthur R. Robinson, (Rep.), of Indiana, foe of the League of Nations and its World Court, will be assigned to membership on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, it now appears certain.

The resignation of Walter E. Edge, of New Jersey, to become ambassador to France, created a vacancy on the Foreign Relations Committee. Edge voted for the World Court.

The Republican Committee on committees will meet Tuesday to fill vacancies on the various committees. Several senators are eager for the foreign relations berth. Howell, (Rep.), of Nebraska has been considering the post, but he is expected to give way to Robinson.

Appointment of Robinson will give the anti-court forces a victory in the struggle being made to "'pack'" more friends of the League Court on thecommittee. Robinson voted against joining the court when the issue was up in 1926. He is still against it.

With Robinson, there will be six vigorous foes of the League and its court on the committee, with three or four other members likely to go along with them in the showdown.

Ship Magnate, Wife Reported Separated

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 4.—(AP.)—Newspapers said Edward D. Tenney, 70, millionaire chairman of the board of the Matson Navigation Company, and his 36-year-old wife, the former Catherine Nicholson-Vernon, had stayed in different hotels after their arrival here last month from Honolulu and that Mrs. Tenny since had departed alone for Southern California to visit friends.

"I have nothing to say," was Tenny's only comment when asked if he and his wife had separated.

The Honolulu shipping man's first wife died in 1927, and he and Miss Nicholson-Vernon, who had been a San Francisco stenographer, were married the following year.

SEEK TO RAISE DEATH PLANES

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Jan. 4.—(INS.)—In the hope that the seven missing bodies lie within the twisted, charred fuselages of the two moving picture cabin planes that carried 10 to their deaths, naval mine layers today were to attempt to haul the wreckage to the surface.

All night the mine layers held the two smashed planes at the ends of grappling chains which reached over 300 feet to the ocean floor.

Some believe that the strong current may have washed the bodies out through the open doors—the doors that were removed to enable cameramen to take unobstructed "shots" of the parachute jump that never was made.

The two planes, carrying pilots, directors and cameramen, crashed in midair over the ocean late Thursday and fell in flames into the ocean.

The bodies still missing are those of Kenneth Hawks, 32, director and husband of Mary Astor, motion picture star; Capt. Ross Cook, 32, and Lieut. Hallock Rouse, 33, pilots; George Eastman, 29, cameraman; Otto Jordan, 26, assistant cameraman; Tom Harris and Henry Johannes, 24, property man.

Mother Leaves Home as Baby Is Barred

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Turned away from her home in fashionable Riverside drive, an unmarried mother of 19, with her 12-day-old boy in her arms, went back to Bellevue Hospital. There, at least, the door was open and there was care for mother and child.

Her father, she said, had been willing to take her back alone, but her home had been closed to her child. She would not abandon the helpless infant.

MUSEUM GIVEN FOR U. S. ART

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney has announced that she is founding and endowing in New York City the first permanent museum in this country ever devoted exclusively to American art.

Some indication of the magnificence of her gift may be gained from the fact that she presented to the foundation a collection of 400 paintings by leading American artists.

The new museum will be known as the Whitney Museum ,of American art and will open next November in temporary quarters.

WALES FACING ROUGH SEAS

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Jan. 4.—(INS.)—The Prince of Wales was on the high seas today bound for Capetown, South Africa, whence he will proceed northward into the wilds of Africa to resume his big game hunting expedition which was interrupted by King George's illness last year.

In accordance with his desires, there were no elaborate send-off arrangements made for his departure aboard the S. S. Kenilworth Castle yesterday afternoon.

Weather conditions for the start of his long journey were not propitious. It was raining and a heavy westerly gale boded rough seas during the night.

Two cabins on the promenade deck were converted into a private sitting room for the use of the Prince on the voyage.

Youth Hit by Auto, Man Caught in Chase

Pursuing a motorist who was alleged to have struck Angelo Delduca, 17, a newsboy, of 6314 Everett street, at Baum boulevard and Highland avenue last night, Patrolman John Mahaven arrested the driver after a chase of several squares. He said he was W. L. Russell, 33, of 6204 Broad street.

Delduca was treated for severe lacerations of the head and shoulder.

2 DIE IN HOTEL FIRE, QUIZ ON

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Investigation was begun today to determine the cause of the explosions and fire which raged in the basement and sub-basements of the fashionable Hotel Marguery at 270 Park avenue, here last night, resulting in the death of two persons and damage approximating $100,000.

Mrs. Louis Lichtenheim, 60, who fled from her eleventh-floor apartment, fell dead from a heart attack when she reached the street. Although ill, she hastened down 10 flights of stairs when elevators stopped.

William Cass, 50, elevator operator, was found dead in his lift, stalled between the third and fourth floors, a victim of the smoke which billowed up the shaft.

The fire was accompanied by the blowing out of two transformers, the blasts shattering show windows of stores on the ground floors of the 11-story structure.

'Rabbit Fever' Kills Alliance, O., Woman

ALLIANCE, O., Jan. 4.—Tularemia, better known as "rabbit fever," claimed the life of Mrs. Emily Crawford, 64, mother-in-law of Mayor Carl F. Hari, at her home, 2138 Shunk avenue.

She was stricken ill seven weeks ago after cleaning a rabbit. A sample sent to Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D. C., revealed the disease. She is the first known victim of the disease to die in this section of the country.

THIRD BOMBING VICTIM DIES

SEAT PLEASANT, Md., Jan. 4.—(INS.)—Death claimed another victim of the New Year's Day Christmas package bomb outrage early today when 4-year-old Dorothy Hall succumbed to injuries at Sibley Hospital, Washington. The death toll is now three—Mrs. Naomi Hall Brady, 18-year-old bride, for whom the package was intended; her 19-months-old brother, Samuel, and little Dorothy.

Mrs. Nora Hall, Naomi's mother, is at Providence Hospital in Washington, and physicians fear for her life. Leslie Hall, 16-year-old son, who lost two fingers, is out of danger. The 86-year-old mother of Mrs. Hall has been discharged from the hospital and is said to be recovering from shock and slight injuries she suffered.

PAY IS HELD UP IN JOHNSTOWN

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 4.—With Mayor Joseph Cauffiel in jail, Johnstown city workers today were wondering when they would receive their salaries, due yesterday. More than $27,000 is due them.

Warrants for $23,000 more await official signature. These are for electric lights, work done for the city by contractors and other expenses incurred by the city.

They have been signed by Acting Mayor Calvin Overdoff, and City Controller W. H. Dawson, but without Cauffiel's signature they are not legal. No further action can be taken until the Supreme Court rules on an appeal taken by the city treasurer from a decision of the County Court. Cauffiel, who warned the city treasurer not to pay any warrants, still considers himself mayor.

York Goes to Rome For Royal Wedding

LONDON, Jan. 4.—(INS.)—The Duke of York, second son of King George, left for Rome today to represent his father at the wedding of Princess Marie Jose, of Belgium, and Crown Prince Humbert, of Italy.

The duty of representing the British royal family at the wedding falls upon the Duke inasmuch as the King's health is still too delicate to permit the long journey to Rome and the Prince of Wales is now on his way to Africa on a hunting expedition.

Jitney Driver Held In Trolley Bombing

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 4.—(AP.)—Police late last night arrested Vincent Vineza, 23, jitney driver, after two persons said they saw him bomb a street car.

Vienza was arrested after two persons told police they saw him place a package on the car tracks at Magazine and Thalia streets, a few moments before a street car was blown up there two months ago.

Smith's Publicity Idea Wins Over Coolidge's

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—(AP.)—Alfred E. Smith's ideas for a front-page splurge have prevailed over Calvin Coolidge's. They and Julius Rosenwald had a conference on methods of disposing of the $6,000,000 estate which Conrad Huber left for philanthropic purposes. They decided to announce details Monday. A reporter wanted something for Saturday morning papers. "I don't think that would hurt the story," said Coolidge; "I think it would do it good."

CAPITOL FIRE QUIZ OPENS

unquestionably it started in the model room.

Firemen told him after the fire that the electric wiring was in order and the fire could not have originated from that source.

WILD RUMORS AFLOAT

The Capitol fire, coming on the heels of the Christmas eve blaze which damaged the White House offices, gave rise to many rumors. Tales were spread through the capital that enemies of the government had resorted to fire, but such rumors were promptly discounted by officials.

Great crowds thronged the Capitol plaza soon after the blaze was discovered, just before 7 p. m. Six alarms were sounded, and fire apparatus dashed from all parts of the city. Historic Pennsylvania avenue became a parade ground for swiftly-moving fire trucks.

Capitol police, who had discovered the fire, led firemen to the burning rooms on the fourth floor, or attic, and several streams of water were turned upon the edifice. Smoke filled the Capitol and blackened one side of the great dome. The smoke is believed to have come chiefly from artists' chemicals, several paintings of Court of Claims justices and the composition partition. Few documents were burned.

DAMAGE FROM WATER

The blaze was declared extinguished within an hour. Architect Lynn said a large part of the damage would result from seeping of water through the walls. Water reached into the offices of Justice Sanford, of the Supreme Court; the House Indian Affairs and Banking Committee rooms and that of Representative Garner, Democratic floor leader.

Capitol fires have not been common, according to Lynn. The last fire, he said occurred about 30 years ago in the Supreme Court section of the Capitol.

A direct result of the fire may be the speeding of a new archives building, which is a part of the vast building program now under way in the Capitol. Senator Keyes (Rep.), of New Hampshire, chairman of the Senate Building Committee, said he would press for immediate action.

"Two fires within a short time in the White House and Capitol give us another argument for the building of an archives building at once," said Keyes.

Records threatened by last night's fire consisted of old bills of Congresses several years ago. While they were not regarded as particularly valuable they are kept in no other place, according to Elmer Lewis, superintendent of the document room.

Fear was expressed by some that smoke may have damaged the world famous paintings which adorn the Capitol rotunda and other places, but Capitol officials said they believed they were unharmed.

WILKINS VIEWS NEW POLAR REACHES

Deception Island Shaken By Severe Earthquakes; Hearst Land Coast Mapped

By CAPT SIR HUBERT WILKINS
Commander of the Wilkins-Hearst Antarctic Expedition.

DECEPTION ISLAND, Antarctica, Jan. 4.—(Via S. S. Melville and KUP, San Francisco Examiner Wireless Station.)—Deception Island was swept by a great earthquake.

Huge holes were made in the ground and the ship was shaken severely.

Two bridges at the land station were smashed and four men shaken from an oil tank. One man was killed and the three others severely injured.

There was no damage to any of our equipment, nor was any member of the expedition injured.

DETAILS OF FLIGHT

Supplementing my message of January 1, I am now able to give further details of the flight which permitted us to explore and chart 300 additional miles of the coastline of Hearst Land. After many disappointments and reverses, we at last succeeded in completing a "voyage" of discovery over the edge of the immense polar cap.

As the last day of 1929 dawned, we lowered our Lockheed monoplane, Los Angeles, over the side of the steamer, William Scoresby, in a temperature of 29 degrees below zero.

It was a perilous take-off. Al Cheesman was at the control, I in the cabin among my charts and instruments. Parker Cramer and Orval Porter were left aboard the Scoresby to "stand by" for a possible flight of rescue with the extra plane.

PERFECT TAKEOFF

Rising to a height of 500 feet, we circled the Scoresby several times, checking our engine. It was running perfectly despite the freezing weather.

Satisfied that all was well, Cheesman headed the plane southward. In a few minutes we could see the dim outline of Alexander Island.

Fifty minutes of unerring flying brought the black peaks of Charcot Land (which we found to be an island) to our horizon.

After a total flying time of one hour and 20 minutes, we arrived at the coast of Charcot Island and swung wide to photograph it.

The island is roughly hamshaped, forking to the west. It is about 60 miles across from East to West and 40 miles from North to South. The highest elevation on the island is about 2,000 feet.

This is the main feature of our discoveries of last year, and bore out the fact that a channel exists. (Capt. Wilkins evidently refers to the channel between Graham Land and main body of the Polar continent, which he had named Stefansson Strait).

We circled Charcot Island. South and westward to approximately 80 degrees west longitude, there was a low coast, undoubtedly a continuance of Hearst Land, partially broken with mountains.

Our return trip was made at a much greater speed with the help of a tail wind. Just four hours and one minute after the take-off Cheesman brought the plane to a beautiful east-west landing alongside the Scoresby—our gasoline supply practically exhausted.

RADIO WORKS WELL

Our Heintz & Kaufman radio set kept us in constant touch with the Scoresby during the flight.

We have made the longest possible flight from this location—67 degrees, 47 minutes, south latitude, and 75 degrees, 21 minutes, west longitude. Need of fuel for the steamer will prevent any further search westward. We must turn back to Deception Island, our base.

Our efforts will now be concentrated in search of flat ice from which to take off for the "great adventure," the Ross Sea flight over the entire Antarctic continent and a visit to Admiral Byrd's "Little America."

Husband Is Killed, Widow Asks $25,000

For the loss of her husband John Buonpane, his widow Mrs. Clementine Buonpane, 6025 Hoevler street, has brought suit against the Pittsburgh Railways Company for $25,000 damages. Big Reward Offered For Stolen Painting

BRUSSELS, Jan. 4.—(AP.)—The British insurance firm of Lloyd's has offered a reward of 200,000 francs (about $40,000) for the recovery of the painting "Le Concert des Anges" by Sir Anthony Van Dyck. The canvas had been cut from its frame while in transit from Brussels to a London dealer and the loss was discovered when the packing case was opened at the latter's gallery last Tuesday.

Discovery of Gas Brings Airport $3,000 Weekly

Natural gas production is the cause, however, not aviation.

Fourteen gas wells located on the air field are responsible for an income of $3,000 a week with good chances that it will increase even more.

OBSERVE WEEK OF PRAYER

In observance of the week of prayer, there will be services each evening next week, except Saturday, at the First Evangelical Church, Center avenue and Graham street, the Rev. Dr. N. C. Milliron, pastor. The special speaker for the occasion will be Bishop Samuel P. Spreng, of Naperville, Ill.

An exclusive feature of remarkable interest!
MY LIFE IN THE WHITE HOUSE
By MRS. CALVIN COOLIDGE

IN this intensely interesting series of articles, Mrs. Coolidge tells you frankly what it is like to live six years in the White House.

The pleasures, trials and embarrassments of a First Lady of the Land are described in narrative, talked rather than written—like the friendly chat of a neighbor. She tells of White House life, personal and official, with a rather astonishing candor. She reveals its bad moments and its good, its happiness and its burdens.

Are you interested in Washington social life? Look at it through the eyes of this gracious woman. Read the problems involved in even so simple a matter as a tea; how the guests for the Mayflower cruises were selected; how a President's wife shops and where she can go. Interested in side lights on celebrities? Read how White House guests pilfered napkins, ash trays, hangings and even pieces of furniture. Read what they ate at Coolidge "farm breakfasts." Laugh with Mrs. Coolidge at the social calamities crowded into one "dinner of horrors."

Would you like to know the real background of political affairs? These remarkable articles throw dramatic highlights on the President's character and explain some little understood incidents of his famous "I do not choose to run" statement.

Every American who wants to know what family life is like back of the guarded doors of the White House should read every word of this brilliantly told history of six years of a woman's life as First Lady of America.

PROSPECTS FOR INDUSTRIES MIXED

Standard Statistics Co. Estimates Outlook for Each Type of Activity

Current indications of the trend in various divisions of industry and trade are summarized by the Standard Statistics Company, of New York, from its first of the year resume of the outlook for important lines, as follows:

Agricultural implements—Domestic sales of agricultural implements and parts, in the first six months of 1930, give promise of equaling the generally excellent returns of the corresponding period of last year.

Aircraft—Though present conditions are unsatisfactory, due to overproduction in 1929, the longer term outlook holds promise of marked improvement with a probable decrease in the number of companies that are manufacturing planes.

MOTOR OUTLOOK

Automobiles — Unsatisfactory conditions still prevail. It will require, probably, at least six months of the current year to work the industry into a healthy condition.

Building—The outlook for 1930 as a whole is somewhat better, although the improved situation may not become evident before the middle of the year.

Coal—Earnings will probably register a moderate reduction in the first half of 1930.

Copper—Returns in 1930 will hardly equal those of 1929, one of the most profitable years on record.

Cotton goods—Until the fundamental problem of over-production is solved, and operating programs adjusted to the volumes justified by current demand, there is little prospect for a return of profits to adequate levels.

RAILS TO BUY

Electrical equipment—The 1930 outlook is good. A steady demand is assured from utilities and railroads.

Fertilizers — Present prospects are favorable and the demand should be good with satisfactory spring weather conditions.

Machinery—The industry has entered 1930 in excellent position. Orders carried over on the books are substantial and current demand is sizable.

OIL GAINS

Petroleum—Production of crude during early future months holds considerable promise of continued balance between supply and demand. In the field of refining and marketing, granting continuance of these more favorable operating conditions, further improvement should be evident in the first half of the year.

Radio—Any constructive period of reorganization along sound economic lines can scarcely be started before fall at the earliest. The tube industry has been less vitally affected than the receiver trade.

Railroads—Small relative decreases in railroad traffic in the last few weeks indicate that the traffic stream is no longer contracting, and stabilization may be looked for at about present levels during the first half of 1930.

Shipbuilding—With 20 important vessels under construction, the definite recommendation to add approximately 30 more means that business will be good for several years at least.

Steel—Although the bottom for the downward movement is now approximated, any upward movement of importance cannot be expected until late winter and progress in this direction will probably be slow during the entire first half of 1930.

South Penn Oil Output Shows Increase

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE South Penn Oil Company added over 800 barrels a day to its production through the completion of new wells during 1929. Current output is at the rate of 8,800 barrels a day. Last spring the company started a campaign to drill 600 wells in the Bradford district. A portion of this work is still to be completed.

While such an increase does not appear large in comparison with the drilling results of other fields, it must be remembered that an entirely different set of conditions prevails in Pennsylvania oil fields. Wells in this district may produce only a barrel a day but their life may be 30 years or more. In addition to this Pennsylvania crude sells for higher prices than the oil of other fields.

Only a part of the wells drilled in last year's campaign were intended as producers. The drilling was on the five spot plan in which water is pumped into four wells to wash the oil out through a single well in the center. Weeks usually pass before the first showing of oil is secured from the completed wells so that further gains may be expected from the recent completions.

Earnings To Gain

THE company will show a moderate gain in its earnings for 1929 as compared with 1928 when net profit was $3,911,165, or $4.74 a share on the 800,000 shares outstanding at the close of the year. In 1927 net profit was $1,727,774, or $2.16 a share.

It has been necessary to revise early estimates of earnings for the year. The top grade of Pennsylvania crude has declined from $4.10 a barrel early in the year to $3.05 a barrel at the close of 1929. The price is still 15 cents a barrel above the level at the beginning of 1928.

The South Penn Oil Company has oil and gas production in Pennsylvania and West Virginia fields. It also purchases all of the crude run by the New York, Southwest Pennsylvania and Eureka pipe lines. It resells this to refiners.

Owns Penn Mex Fuel

EARNINGS in the past two years have been increased by dividends paid by the Penn Mex Fuel Company. South Penn owns 55 per cent of the 400,000 shares of Penn Mex stock. In both 1928 and 1929 this company paid dividends totaling $2 a share. Penn Mex is now producing 8,500 barrels of oil a day at its properties in the Alamo district of Mexico. The company is also recovering 8,000 gallons of gasoline a day. Penn Mex is in a good financial condition and the continuation of payments to the parent company is expected.

The Mexican company resumed dividends in 1928 following the settlement of three years of litigation with the owners of land on which operations were conducted under leases.

Controls Pennzoil

WHILE South Penn Oil is purely a producing organization, it has a connection in the refining and marketing end of the industry through the ownership of 51 per cent of the 400,000 shares of the Penzoil Company. This organization has been increasing its markets for lubricants made from Pennsylvania crude by securing national distribution. The demand for this grade of lubricants has been showing a substantial rate of growth.

South Penn Oil is on a $2 annual dividend basis. Early in 1929 a 50 per cent stock dividend was declared and the present dividend rate was continued on the increased capitalization.

Car Shortages Eliminated In 1929

In the last five years car shortages have been practically eliminated, the average daily shortage being only 1,047 cars in 1924, 443 cars in 1925, 286 cars in 1926, 170 cars in 1927, and 42 cars in 1928. There has been virtually no car shortage whatever during the past year.

This practical elimination of car shortages has been accomplished, in a very considerable degree, by the voluntary cooperation of the shippers and receivers of freight, acting through the various Shippers' Advisory Boards which cover the entire country.

TRUST COMPANY TELLS STORY

One of the best gambling stories of the year, a case now occupying the attention of French courts, is related in the current issue of "Property," the monthly publication of the Fidelity Title and Trust Company.

M. Labon, seated at the Boule tables at Nice, placed 1,000 francs on No. 5. The ball whirled, bobbed and settled below the white faces.

"No. 5," called the croupier, deftly raking in the losing numbers and paying 7,000 francs to No. 5.

With true gambler's poise, the winner said never a word, letting his pile rest. The ball whirled again and again settled on No. 5. Labon remained impassive as the scene was repeated and a pile of 500,000 francs rested before him.

Disturbed, the croupier leaned over to whisper "limit," but the words never passed his lips. For the impassive Labon was dead—a heart stroke on the first roll!

The widow now claims the whole winnings, but the Casino contends only the first bet should be paid and the French courts are facing their most puzzling case. Yet this case, the publication contends, is hardly more puzzling than many American estates of investment and speculative ramification left without a will.

E. J. JOHNSON

NEW ASSOCIATE AGENT

At the annual meetting and luncheon given to the Pittsburgh agency of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company at the Union Club yesterday in recognition of its unusual development during the past year, Dr. Louis K. Manley, dean of the School of Business Administration at the University of Pittsburgh, addressed the agency. There were 45 representatives present.

At this meeting the announcement was made that the rapid development of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company's business in the Pittsburgh territory has brought about the requirement for an additional executive head in the Pittsburgh agency to be associated with Holgar J. Johnson, general agent. The appointment of Eric B. Johnson to the position of associate general agent was announced by Hugh D. Hart, vice president of the company.

Eric G. Johnson has been associated with the Pittsburgh agency for a year and a half, during which time he has been acting in the capacity of agency supervisor with the responsibility of training and supervising all the new men appointed in this territory during the past 12 months.

Prior to coming to Pittsburgh, Mr. Johnson was district agent at New Haven, Conn., where he made an outstanding record as an agency organizer. He is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh.

The Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company is increasing its office space in the Clark Building for the second time within 12 months, due to the tremendous increase in its business. During this same year branch offices were opened in Wheeling, Johnstown and Altoona.

During 1930 this agency anticipates a continued expansion of its activities throughout the Pittsburgh territory by the opening of several additional branch offices.

RAILS USE 16% OF STEEL

Direct purchases of fuel, material and supplies by the railways aggregated $1,271,341,000 in 1928. Purchases of fuel represented 25 per cent of the annual output of bituminous coal, 4.8 per cent of the output of anthracite coal, and 18 per cent of the output of fuel in the United States.

Th purchase of forest products by the railways in 1928 accounted for 15.9 per cent of the total timber cut of the United States. If indirect purchases are included—that is, the use of timber in equipment, buildings and other structures that were built for the railways under contract and other lump-sum agreements—this figure would rise to approximately 20 per cent.

The railways take annually about 16 per cent of the total iron and steel production of the United States, and more than 5 per cent of the production of portland cement. These percentages include both direct and indirect purchases.

RETAIL SALES LIGHT FOR WEEK

R. C. Dun Says Volume Has Been Curtailed by Year-End Inventory Period

The volume of business at both wholesale and retail has been very light this week, the larger stores holding clearance sales, and the majority of the jobbers either preparing for or already taking inventory, according to R. G. Dun & Co.

Jobbers of dry goods, men's and women's clothing and shoes report trade very quiet and do not anticipate any business of consequence until the middle of January. There is but little demand for jewelry at this time, and volume of business for the past year is said to have averaged somewhat lower than in 1928.

Lumber and building material are in light demand, although some improvement is anticipated early in the year. There has been some slowing up in demand for plumbing and heating supplies, and the total volume for the year appears to have been slightly lower than in 1928.

There is a fair demand for groceries, while the tobacco and confectionery lines are quiet.

OUTPUT GAINS

Industrial operations are at a slightly higher rate than last week, with steel mills probably averaging from 50 to 60 per cent of capacity. Some plants which have been closed down for a short time are resuming operations.

Production of plate glass is holding up fairly well and 1929 production was the highest on record. Capacity of producers has been increased to some extent and prospects for 1930 are viewed with optimism. While 1929 was a very unsatisfactory year for manufacturers of window glass, a better condition is looked for in 1930.

DEMAND GREATER

Demand for electrical equipment has been well maintained, 1929 has been better than the average, and prospects are looked upon as favorable.

There has been a slight decrease in the production of crude oil, with little change in prices.

Demand for bituminous coal shows little change. Western Pennsylvania grades of run-of-mine coal are quoted, per net ton at mines, as follows: Steam coal, $1.25 to $1.75; coking coal, $1.50 to $1.75; gas coal, $1.65 to $1.75; steam slack, 80 cents to 90 cents, and gas slack, $1 to $1.10.

PACKER SHOWS GROWTH

The story of unusual success is always interesting news and the story of the unexampled progress of Oswald & Hess Co. is one that is outstanding in the annals of the meat packing industry.

Starting 10 years ago, in the face of the keenest kind of competition, the Oswald & Hess business was but a short time in its swaddling clothes. In its first year it began to come forward and it was not long until it became known as one of the leaders in the meat packing industry. George Hess, president, is proud of the fact that Oswald & Hess is a local company and that all "Delicious" brand meats are prepared in Pittsburgh and are delivered fresh every day to dealers.

In the achievement of such exceptional success, there must be reasons considerably beyond the ordinary, and the Oswald & Hess growth is attributed principally to the remarkable quality of its products. Pittsburgh has the most strict food laws in the country, and all Oswald & Hess meats are packed under these laws. As a further safeguard of this quality, the company maintains a bureau of inspection under the personal supervision of Dr. J. J. Thomas.

Pittsburgh is a sausage center of national reputation, and it is in no sense exagerating to state that much of this reputation is attributable to the 100 per cent pure pork sausage produced by the Oswald & Hess Co. As the entire Oswald & Hess policy is founded upon quality and service, it is true that the buying public will find every Oswald & Hess dealer to be one of greatest reliability.

ROUND TABLE OF BUSINESS

UPWARD TREND IN STEEL STARTED

By B. E. V. LUTY.

Steel production has rounded the turn as it regularly does at this time of year. January production of steel ingots may be estimated at 10 to 20 per cent over that of December. It is easier to make this estimate, as to the relationship between the months, than to estimate closely the production of either month, for December operations were irregular and intermittent. The official report due next week will probably show production at between 50 and 60 per cent and January may be forecast tentatively at 60 to 65 per cent.

As an augury for the year as a whole, or the half year, it is easy to overestimate the importance of this increase, for the reason that whatever poorness there was in general underlying conditions was fully expressed in December, while there was the usual liquidation of stocks all down the line for January 1 inventory, leaving room for an upward reaction. It is true there might have been shipments in December against old orders for construction material, to play out later, but the fact is that such longer term business is assured of continuance if not increase.

SHOPS WELL BOOKED

Structural fabricating shops are well booked for four or five months and will take as much steel as formerly. Freight car buying was very heavy in October and moderate in November and December, while little steel for even the cars bought in October has thus far been shipped. In rails the mills are very well booked. In November and December the mills shipped more rails than usual, but on an average the roads had bought more than they did a year ago. The farm implement works are taking steel steadily at a good rate.

Thus there is no class of business in which the mills are in line to lose tonnage in the next three months and there are numerous lines in which there will be more or less seasonal gain. In the last six years, the average increase in steel ingot production from the December rate to the subsequent high month has been 25 per cent and some such increase may occur this time, but it will not mean much on account of December production having been so low.

STEADY PRODUCTION

The more important point is that steel production in 1930 will be unusually steady month by month. It used to be a puzzle steel production should show such variations, with a spring peak and an autumn peak and July and December low points between. Careful consideration resulted in a theory that buying habits, more than changes in the rate of actual ultimate consumption, were responsible, and observation of what occurred in 1928 and 1929 confirmed this theory. It is quite clear that buyers all along the line will be conservative this year, whereby steel demand and production will be steadier. The prospect is definite that whatever the year's average may be, spring will not be as much above the average and summer not so much below, as in the years prior to 1928.

Almost all the records show that the automobile trade was too sanguine in predicting its year's operations, and when apparently conservative predictions are made for 1930, it is well to take them with the grain of salt that experience suggests. To admit a decrease from 1929 is not going far. It would be more to the point to consider the possibility of a decrease from 1928 on the ground that the public got ahead in its replacements. The average age of the cars now in service is considerably below the average age in previous years, yet there are no statistics indicating that the normal average potential life of a car has decreased materially if at all. It is clear, furthermore, that the automobile trade will be slow in swinging into its gait, whatever that general gait may be.

Certain predictions are made as to the general volume of industrial activity in 1930, including public works and expenditures by public service companies and other large corporations. It does not folloow that demand for steel will be in the same relation to general activity as has prevailed in the last two years. The expenditures in those two years ran particularly to steel as various trustworthy statistical complications show.

It makes a big difference in steel, for instance, whether a railroad spends a million dollars on freight cars or on general improvements, whether individuals buy automobiles or build dwelling houses, and whether roads or bridges are built. Thus there is an element of uncertainty in steel beyond such uncertainty as there is respecting the total volume of business activity.

State Building Operations Gain

HARRISBURG, Jan. 4.—Building work in Pennsylvania cities and boroughs in November, for the second consecutive month, registered an increase over the corresponding month in 1928. Building for November, 1929, showed an increase of 26.5 per cent, as compared with November, 1928, according to the records of building permits issued in 40 cities and boroughs as reported to the Department of Labor and Industry. Permits were issued during November, 1929, in these 40 municipalities for work to cost $13,853,374.

The gain in building work for November was entirely in buildings of the non-residential class. The building permit data for November, 1929, classified according to the class of buildings to be erected, show that the total for new residential building work in November, 1929, was 63.6 per cent less than the residential building total for November, 1928. The amount to be expended for new non-residential building construction, on the other hand, showed an increase of 170.6 per cent.

No Change in Sheet Wages for Period

YOUNGSTOWN, Jan. 4.—Tonnage rates for sheet and tin mill workers in mid-western plants continue unchanged in January and February, from the November-December rate, as a result of the bimonthly examination of sales sheets. Average price of Nos. 26, 27 and 28 gauge black sheets shipped during the 60 days ended December 20 was disclosed at 3.05 cents per pound, or unchanged from the bimonthly average two months ago. Affected workers are now being paid 27 per cent above base.

White Motor Co. Deliveries Higher

CLEVELAND, Jan. 4.—The White Company made more deliveries of trucks and buses during last month than any December since 1925, which was the biggest December in history of the company, according to an official statement.

LIBERTY DAIRY EXPANDS

One year ago the Liberty Dairy Products Corporation was just entering the dairy field in Pittsburgh. The business of the companies merged to make up the Liberty Dairies in 1928 amounted to $4,250,000. In 1929 the business of Liberty jumped to more than $6,500,000.

Liberty has recently brought into its fold the Harmony Creamery Company, the Allegheny Dairy Company and the Star Creamery of New Kensington. With these organizations Liberty is the predominant factor in the field in Western Pennsylvania. The great majority of Liberty stock is owned by its employes and customers. That is the reason Liberty serves 155,000 individual consumers and approximately 3,000 wholesale merchants.

Liberty milk pasteurizing plants, ice cream plants and distributing stations are so located as to well serve metropolitan Pittsburgh. One plant is located at Forbes and Boyd streets, in the center of Pittsburgh, another on the North Side, one in the Shadyside district, one in Oakmont, one in Kittanning and one in New Kensington. Dairy products are brought to these plants from 11 Liberty receiving stations in Pennsylvania and Ohio. These stations receive the product of more than 3,000 farms. Each of the receiving stations and the plants is equipped with the latest in machinery to handle the immense volume of business. In the manufacture of ice cream, human hands do not touch the cream. These modern plants have an annual capacity of over 65,000,000 quarts of milk and 6,000,000 quarts of cream. Liberty is exceedingly proud of the fact that it is the only daily company in Western Pennsylvania owning and operating its own certified milk farm. This farm covers 500 acres and has the latest in barns and equipment.

The success of Liberty in the Pittsburgh section is shown by the class of its customers. Its products are sold to such drug organizations as Dow, Mayflower, Boreman, May-Liggett; to such hotels and eating places as the William Penn, Fort Pitt, Mayfair, Henry, Foster's, B. & G., Kresge, F. & W. Grant and McCrory; University of Pittsburgh, and many of the public and parochial schools, and such hospitals as Mercy, Montefiore, St. Joseph's, Veterans', St. John's, St. Margaret's, St. Francis,' Homeopathic, Presbyterian, and to hundreds of other institutions.

Locomotive Buying Gained in December

Locomotives on order on December 1 this year numbered 299, compared with 123 on the same day in 1928, and 69 in 1927. On December 1, 1926, the railroads had 344 on order.

BUS TERMINAL OPENED

On January 1 the West Penn Motor Coach Lines consolidated the Pittsburgh Terminal facilities of all its operating companies at 972 Liberty avenue, heretofore used only by Blue Ridge Transportation. This move involved the discontinuance of the White Star Lines Terminal at 345 Boulevard of the Allies.

Under the new arrangement three of the West Penn lines will use the Liberty avenue terminal as a base. These are the Blue Ridge Transportation Company operating to Baltimore and Washington over the National Highway, the White Star Lines, Inc., running to Wheeling and Morgantown by way of Washington, Pa., and the Mountaineer division of the Monongahela Transport Company reaching Fairmont and Clarksburg by way of the Monongahela Valley, Uniontown and Morgantown.

The Mountain Stages operating in conjunction with the Blue Ridge Transportation Company will continue to use the Liberty avenue terminal. This line reaches Cumberland, Md., by way of Greensburg and Somerset making direct connections with the Blue Ridge at Cumberland for all points east and south.

The Red Star Way, an independent company, will use the new West Penn terminal as a base for its busses running west to Columbus via Steubenville and Wheeling.

The combined use of the terminal has necessitated increased facilities which have been effected by a number of changes providing improved accommodations for patrons.

The terminal will be under the direct supervision of George May, division dispatcher.

Consolidation Gets New Chief Engineer

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Jan. 4.—(AP.)—Charles Enzian, formerly chief mining engineer of the Berwind-White Coal Mining Company at Windber, Pa., has been obtained as chief engineer of the operating division of the Consolidation Coal Company, the latter concern announced yesterday. Enzian has been chief mining engineer for the Berwind-White Company for the past seven years.

DROP IN LOANS FOR OTHERS SEEN

Present Total More Than Double Percentage in January Two Years Ago

A further stady decline in the total of loans made to brokers "for the account of others" is looked for in banking circles in the near future. These loans still amount to more than 53 per cent of the total of brokers' loans reported by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, but it is claimed in informed quarters that temporary factors are keeping up the total of such advances at the present time.

Before the great increase in brokers' loans in 1928 and 1929 loans made by outside lenders through the New York banks did not constitute more than 20 or 25 per cent of the aggregate of such loans. As late as January, 1928, loans made for the account of others by reporting New York member banks did not amount to as much as a billion and were only approximately 25 per cent of the loan total. High call money rates and discouragement of direct advances in the call money market by the banks combined to increase the relative importance of loans for the account of others, however, and early this year they first amounted to more than half of the aggregate brokers' loans.

SLOW DECLINE

Several factors are advanced to explain the slowness with which the total of such loans has declined in the last few weeks. One of these is the fact that investment trusts and other large buyers of securities have preferred to keep their funds on the call money market despite the low yield, merely to be in a position to have cash available immediately in case of any desire to enter the securities markets on a large scale. However, the uncertain conditions in these markets have kept them in the call money market right along.

A second factor pointed out by bankers is the fact that many large corporations raised funds freely from the public earlier in the year, intending to invest this money in the business gradually over a period of time. Such lenders are also largely immune from being influenced by the rate paid, but as business needs call money they will withdraw funds heavily from the market, it is expected. Slower collections are likely to hasten such withdrawals in many cases.

BOND MARKET

In the third place, any revival in the bond market is expected to bring about the withdrawal of large sums from the call money market. Owing to the steady decline in bond prices earlier in the year, funds which would normally have been put into bonds were placed on call money in many cases. However, the bond market has become firm, and investment houses express hopes of a substantial revival of bond financing in the first half of 1930. As soon as confidence in the bond market is restored a shift from the call loan market to the bond market is thought likely for many outside lenders.

SHIPMENTS OF FLAT GLASS LIGHT

Budget Says Production Equal to Small Demand Of the Year-End Season

At this season when year-end influences are having an effect on business in general, there is very little incentive for moving any flat glass other than that absolutely needed to take care of immediate requirements, according to the National Glass Budget.

There is sufficient productive capacity to keep more than abreast with any demand that may materialize for plate, window or rough glass. Inventories will not be entirely completed for some days to come. Railroads are again back on schedule after the tie-up brought about by the snow storms prevalent in many of the northern parts of the country.

FLAT GLASS

Manufacturers of flat glass are certain to move forward at a cautious pace. Likewise distributors will adopt cautious practices in the conduct of their affairs. Little, if any, speculative buying is anticipated during the early months of the year. Prognosticators of the business outlook sense uncertainty as to the first quarter of the year. They anticipate improved conditions thereafter for the remainder of the year, bringing the volume of business done up to that of 1929.

In other enterprises the idea of creating business by cutting prices to move the stock is frowned upon by both manufacturers and progressive distributors. Business conditions do not warrant any such action. If cuts were to be made they would result in forced sales all along the line and would eventually cause a demoralized market.

AUTO SHOW

The automobile show, which takes place in New York next week, will afford the plate glass industry some idea as to the outlook for that industry. It has been predicted that the automobile industry is in for another good year. So far as the jobbing business and also that of the mirror industry is concerned they should not have to encounter any harder going than was experienced in the past 12 months. One worthwhile feature is that stocks of plate glass are not large. Productive capacity far exceeds any possible demand.

STOCK PRICES IRREGULARLY HIGHER

Most of Initial Gains Are Small—Steel and Dairy Products Up, Tobacco Off

NEW YORK, Jan. 4—(AP.)—Stock prices moved irregularly higher at the opening of today's market, but most of the initial changes were small. Columbian Carbon advanced 1½ points and U. S. Steel common and National Dairy Products advanced about a point each, Union Pacific, Johns Manville and American Tobacco B each fell back about a point.

The market crept steadily higher during the first half hour. The overnight news was not of a character to revive bullish enthusiasm to any extent. The stock exchange monthly borrowings figures disclosed a negligible decline during December, compared to the enormous reductions of October and November.

Bank clearings for December showed a decided drop from the previous December, but could not be accepted as a very definite barometer of business activity, as heavy stock trading undoubtedly was an important factor in causing the high level of December, 1928.

Week-end business and trade reviews indicated a moderate revival of activity in steel and other lines, with the ending of the inventory period.

Public utilities were a strong spot in the early dealing. American and Foreign Power mounting a couple of points, and Public Service of New Jersey, Pacific Lighting and others making moderate gains. Short covering carried Fox Film A up 2½ and International Combustion Engineering preferred up 4. Further demonstrations appeared in the motors, Hudson rising 2 points.

A. M. Byers, American Chicle, Worthington Pump and F. G. Shattuck mounted 2 to 3½ points, and such shares as Sears Roebuck, Air Reduction, Childs, Standard Gas, Simmons and International Combustion common mounted a point or more. Gillette, Colorado Fuel and Standard of California were soft spots, losing a point or so.

Equipment Orders Gain in December

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—The Railway Age reports that during December 9,785 freight cars were purchased against 5,126 in November and 4,608 in December, 1928. The Rock Island, Missouri Pacific and Reading were the leading buyers of the month, Rock Island alone taking 5,000 cars.

In the same period 167 locomotives were bought compared with 84 in November and 59 in December, 1928.

Passenger car orders in December totaled 77 against 57 in November and 11 in December, 1928.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—The General Electric Company has organized the General Electric Realty Corporation as a holding and supervising company for its property, aside from factories. LONE STAR GAS MOVES UP HERE

Stock Enjoys Mild Rise In Quiet Trading; List Holds to Narrow Range

Lone Star Gas enjoyed a little flurry on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today, with the stock moving up sharply in response to buying orders, which found only a scant supply of the issue available near the previous closing level.

Volume of trading in the issue was not particularly heavy, most of the trades being in odd lot amounts. Western Public Service, the other fuel leader, did not participate in the flurry and held close to last night's final price.

Industrial issues were steady with the majority of them changing hands at practically the same quotations noted yesterday afternoon. International Rustless Iron, in which there has been increased interest the past few days, retained the gain made earlier in the week. Likewise, American Austin Car held at the level achieved in the week's advance.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—Reports of further offerings of export wheat from Russia sent the wheat market here reeling downward today to the lowest prices of the week. A sharp setback in wheat quotations at Liverpool preceded the break in the market here. Opening 1⅛ to 1¾ down, Chicago wheat prices later suffered additional loss. Corn, oats and provisions were also weaker, with corn starting ⅜ to ½ off, and afterward continuing to sag.

The following quotations on the Chicago Board of Trade are reported by A. E. Masten & Co.:

Cost of Living Is Declining, But Not Much.

By B. C. FORBES

THE cost of living is declining a little. Such foodstuffs as flour, sugar, meats, coffee, fowls, fruits and potatoes are not bringing growers such fancy prices that any drastic decline is likely to be experienced. Some other basic commodities, notably cotton, rubber, leather and gasoline are also substantially lower than a year ago.

Rents, if they change at all, are likely to creep downward temporarily. That observation also applies to wages.

But the general disposition will be to keep both wages and living costs on as even a keel as possible. It is better realized today than ever before that, in the interest of everybody, it is best that prosperity be spread out.

NEW YORK gets its second two-billion-dollar bank at the time California gets its first billion-dollar-bank. William C. Potter and Charles H. Sabin are responsible for the two-billion-dollar Guaranty Trust Company, while the redoubtable A. P. Giannini is responsible for the Bank of Italy and its many affiliations in California, and across the continent.

After having stepped aside temporarily to make room for James S. Alexander, formerly head of the absorbed National Bank of Commerce, Mr. Sabin resumes the chairmanship of the Guaranty. Sabin was the man who raised the Guaranty from small to great stature even before the war—he made it the largest trust company in the land.

Until now, Chicago was the only city outside of New York that could boast of a billion-dollar bank.

"SIGNS of progress," as Western utility companies placard barriers when they dig up a street; President W. L. Mellon, of the Gulf Oil Corporation and of the famous Mellon family of Pittsburgh, tells me, "I would estimate the cash expenditures in new additions to plant by the Gulf Oil Corporation and its subsidiaries in 1930 at about $60,000,000."

Walter Teagle, head of the biggest oil company of them all, Standard of New Jersey, has such momentous plans up his sleeve that he hesitates to give out an estimate of how much may be spent this year. All oil companies, despite gross overproduction and low prices, are not broke, by any means. Oil shares came through the Wall Street earthquake better than most others.

NEITHER Melvin A. Traylor nor Jackson E. Reynolds, who sail for Europe today to put finishing touches on the Bank of International Settlements, is remotely likely to accept the job of running the institution. Each enjoys high position at home. Besides, they are intensely American, with no aspirations for becoming shining lights in titled European society. Both are ex-farm boys whose heads have not been turned by place and power and wealth, any more than the author of the Young Plan, (Owen D., also an ex-farm lad) has allowed his head to be turned.

SHARES in most investment trusts suffered terribly during the panic. Some of them actually sold for less than the amount of hard cash on deposit against them. Efforts are now being made by the better-managed companies to stage a comeback by frankly presenting facts.

Prince & Whitely set an early example by issuing clear-cut financial statements, vouched for by independent auditors, showing exactly how their trading corporation stood at different periods during the storm. This showing made a reassuring impression. A. P. Giannini long ago published a complete list of his investment corporation's holdings. Similar statements are beginning to appear, revealing the December 31 status. Some concerns reveal their detail holdings, other don't.

If investment trusts are to regain public favor, they must not operate in the dark, must not keep their affairs secret. Even unfavorable facts, voluntarily disclosed, are less disturbing than uncertainty and ugly rumors.

The late J. P. Morgan had accurate vision when he declared that the day was coming when "business will have glass pockets"

VICTOR M. CUTTER, of United Fruit, is one of the growing number of corporation presidents who sends a letter of welcome to each new stockholder and presents inspiring facts. United Fruit is "the largest agricultural enterprise in the world." It owns 462,000 acres of improved lands; also, 1,860,000 acres of unimproved lands; over 1,440 miles of railways; 680 miles of tramways; 44,500 head of cattle, horses, mules; 70 vessels; 16 radio stations.

It also owns something Mr. Cutter doesn't mention; excellent management.

President Hernand Behn, of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation, sent each of his stockholders New Year's greetings by telegram—via the Postal, one of its affiliations. Nothing like supporting home industries!

THE best time to buy stocks is when relatively few other people are buying them.

December Rubber Consumption Off

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Members of the Rubber Exchange estimate consumption for December between 24,000 and 25,000 tons. This compares with 27,659 tons in November and 31,232 in December last year. Consumption for 1929 totaled 470,000 tons as against 441,337 tons in 1928.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—Exports of crude rubber from Malaya during December were 48,513 tons against 46,279 tons in November and 66,763 tons in December, 1928.

Gotham Silk Co. Holders Increase

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—From September 1 to the end of 1929, the number of Gotham Silk stockholders increased 33 1-3 per cent.

New records for economical operation of the various producing units have been established in recent months and the benefits from this will probably be shown in the results of the current year.

RAIL MERGERS STARTED

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Although the rail consolidation plan of the Interstate Commerce Commission has been out for only a short time, negotiations have started with respect to two of the important groupings in the East. As had been expected, initial steps have been taken by the Van Sweringens and the Baltimore and Ohio. Officials of the latter company have had one rather protracted meeting with the Van Sweringens since the publication of the plan. It is expected that many other conferences will follow, as there are big problems for the officials of each of these groups to work out.

At the meeting already held, it is understood, the situation was gone over only in a general way. At subsequent meetings, big problems, with which both groups are confronted, are likely to be taken up in considerable detail.

To Baltimore and Ohio, the most important feature of the commission's plan is allocation to it of Reading and Central Railroad of New Jersey. This, at the same time, was a most natural step for the commission to take with regard to B. & O. This would give that system entrance to New York over its own rails, but this very allocation involves a problem in order to make it effective. B. & O. owns a one-half interest in Reading. New York Central owns the other half. Obviously, consent of New York Central to sell must be obtained and also a way found to finance the acquisition.

It has been understood all along that for a reasonable consideration, New York Central would be willing to part with its interest in Reading. Probably B. & O. would not experience serious difficulty in financing the transaction. Acquisition of complete control of Reading would automatically carry with it Jersey Central, as Reading has owned a legal majority of the stock of that company for many years.

Problems confronting Van Sweringens are not so numerous and so complicated so far as the commission plan is concerned, as those with which B. & O. will have to deal, if they are to attempt to put into effect rather closely important features of grouping that commission has made with B. & O. at the head.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—(AP.)—The bond market had a quiet Saturday session today. Issues of investment caliber, where most of the trading is being done in these days of firm prices, showed little change from the Friday close. United States governments, which make the quickest response to the temper of the money market, steadied in sympathy with the easier undertone of time accommodations.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

Federal Reserve Bank's Profits Up

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Gross earnings of the 12 federal reserve banks for 1929 amounted to $70,955,000 or about $6,900,000 more than for 1928, according to the Federal Reserve Board.

Current expenses amounted to $29,690,000 or about $2,875,000 more than for 1928. After reserve for depreciation, losses, etc., the federal reserve banks had net earnings of $36,423,000.

CONSTRUCTION INDICATOR OF BUSINESS

Current Trade Recession Foreshadowed by Earlier Down Turn in Building

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—The ups and downs of general business depend to a significant extent on the construction cycles.

The current recession in business was foreshadowed by an earlier downturn in building, which first becomes sensitive to changing conditions in the money market. Last year the building trade not only suffered from high interest rates, but more particularly from the virtual disappearance of second mortgage money. The post-panic credit easement points to a better market for mortgage money, yet thus far the beneficial effects have not been felt on account of the usual time lag.

Mere cheap money won't revive the building trades unless builders feel that there is a need for new structures, which will enable them to resume activities at a profit. Has the housing shortage been fully met? Several years ago, in answering this question, one practical economist remarked that he did not know of any Americans who were forced to live in tents.

STATISTICS GAUGE WORK

The American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Corporation conducts its activities on the basis of exact statistical data and forecasts. It has long been a leader in the practical use of statistics as a basis for business policies.

In seeking to answer the question of housing needs in 1930, Clarence W. Wooley, chairman of the company and one of President Hoover's chief advisors in the recent White House economic conferences, pointed out:

"The census tells us approximately the average number of new homes that have actually been built annually since the beginning of the last century. Fairly accurate records back to 1880 tells us how many houses on the average burn down each year. Investigations by the government indicate that, conservatively, the average life of buildings is about 40 years. Combining all of this information, we find that in 1930 we shall need 979,000 new homes. Of these, 35,000 will be to replace fire losses, 534,00 to replace obsolete homes and 410,000 to take care of our growth in population."

Besides Mr. Wooley, the business men who helped to induce President Hoover to ask executives to set up a council to mitigate the trade recession included: Paul Shoup, president of the Southern Pacific; Walter Teagle, president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey; Owen D. Young, chairman of the General Electric Company, and Julius H. Barnes, grain dealer and chairman of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Before the panic, Mr. Hoover had informally discussed the setting up of a permanent voluntary body on business co-ordination, but at present to forestall Congressional criticism the administration seems desirous of regarding the business council, of which Mr. Barnes is head, as a special body created for the present emergency.

ADVERTISING BIG FACTOR

Advertising will shorten the present depression, Paul M. Mazur, of Lehman Brothers, writing in the Post, insists. "After all," the banker-author remarks, "in this country we have been spending annually for advertising $1,500,000,000 educating people to consume, and the results of that particular curriculum are not going to be wasted in a few months. The degree and extent of the depression depend on three circumstances: First, the ingenuity of American business to persuade the consumer to buy quickly; second, the ingenuity to develop some new economic stimuli equivalent to the automobile trade and building programs of 1922 to 1928, and third, the use of the deferred plan of payment (instalment plan) as a selling instrument rather than as a credit instrument."

In other words, this banker certifies that the question of reviving prosperity is at bottom a problem in salesmanship.

Through the recent years of record breaking prosperity, sugar has been in the midst of a major depression. If the growers carry out their plans of balancing production with demand, improvement seems near. A fundamental product cannot long sell below the cost of production.

East End Savings Adds to Surplus

The East End Savings and Trust Company has added $100,000 to its surplus account, bringing it up to $600,000, according to J. C. Miller, president of that organization.

The substantial growth of the East End bank is indicated by the fact that during the past four and one-half years $500,000 has been added to the surplus. It has $11,000,000 in deposits.

Sporadic Raids by Bears Meet With But Little Success.

SEEMINGLY encouraged by the failure of anything in the way of reinvestment demand to assert itself, the bear crowd kept up a sporadic fire against any positions believed likely to be found vulnerable yesterday. The bear guns were trained first on one position and then on another, but with little apparent success. While their persistent hammering was effectual in forcing stocks back at intervals, it was quite evident that such pressure was not precipitating anything in the way of fresh liquidation of consequence. One of the largest of the bear aggregation, and perhaps the best known, is now in Florida, according to Wall street gossip, thus leaving the field more or less clear to other operators who won their spurs on the short side in the not very distant past.

Consolidated Gas is currently selling at about 20 times its estimated 1929 earnings of $5 a share compared with a ratio of 36 times earnings at last year's peak price. Steady accumulation of "gas" has been based on the company's record of consistently increasing profits and on the strategic position which its properties hold in the eastern utility field. At 100, the stock offers a 4 per cent return, which is more liberal than the yield shown by many utility issues whose prospects are less promising. With various merger projects in sight for the current year Consolidated Gas is expected to be a leader in bullish demonstrations in the utility department.

THE decision of the Federal Reserve Bank to make public daily news of any engagements of gold for export, or addition to the earmarked fund, should move to restrict much of the secrecy which heretofore has surrounded such operations. Prior to this time there was no way of confirming reports of the taking of the metal until the weekly returns on the ebb and flow were announced on Thursday of each week. Two firms announced that they had arranged for the shipment to France of a total of $7,250,000 of the metal, but with sterling exchange now well under the gold point no further engagements for London developed. The shipments to France, will bring the total of exports since the movement began about mid-October to upward of $113,000,000.

Lorillard is one of the low-priced tobacco stocks which may receive more attention in the coming months on the theory that earnings this year will show the effects of the cigaret price advance. When this upturn in prices was made by the leading competitors of the company, four months ago, it was viewed as reflecting the success of the company's "Old Gold" brand. The reduction in cigaret prices originally were looked on as an effort to check the growth of this brand's popularity.

WHILE public utility shares suffered materially in the break, it is certain few of the leading properties have felt the effects of any recessions. Monthly reports of earnings in most instances have shown steady increases, although it must be admitted that the business recession started last summer. There has been excellent buying of the leading utilities recently, but the orders have been placed on a scale and the stocks have been taken during reactions. As yet there has been no evidence of shrewd buying during the advances, indicating that important interests are not inclined to follow the upturns.

Financial programs of the railroads for the current year call for an expenditure of in excess of $1,050,000,000, of which about $680,000,000 will be for roadway and structures and $370,000,000 for equipment. Such expenditures will result in good business for steel companies and orders for the equipment makers. The present intention to carry out these plans can become important in the business situation of the future..

America's Hosiery Bill High For Year

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4. — America's hosiery bill was bigger in 1929 than in the preceding year, while the production of over 509,000,000 pairs of socks and stockings was 4 per cent greater, according to Commerce Department figures.

Short skirts and the well-known tendency of women's silk hosiery to develop those very annoying "runs" kicked the stocking bill a few million dollars higher. Hosiery during the year probably cost the public about $300,000,000 at retail.

Foster Melodies Featured On Radio Tonight

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

TO stimulate interest in the Stephen Foster Society recently initiated by the Tuesday Musical Club, KDKA will broadcast a program of Foster melodies tonight at 8 o'clock. It is the purpose of the Society to erect a Foster Memorial on the Cathedral of Learning grounds in Oakland.

One of the most beautiful of operas—"Lohengrin"—will reach us through KDKA at 10 p. m. This opera, based on the pretty legendary lore of the mystic "Holy Grail," will be portrayed for the radio audience by Hallie Stiles as "Elsa," Rene Maison as "Lohengrin," Marie Olszewska as the dark and sinister "Ortrude," and a capable cast. "Lohengrin" is the noblest of Wagner's great operas.

Prof. Musclebound will do the honors in the Nit Wit Hour, which comes to us again at the old hour of 9 p. m. over WJAS.

Eeln Glen Campbell, "Scotland's nightingale," will be guest artist of KQV on a 9:30 program which will be as Scotch as possible with a Scotch announcer, bagpipes 'n' everything.

We Now Present

Eugene Whitlach, a junior at Pitt and part-time employe of KDKA, models ships for pastime. His latest creation, The Archipelago, on display in the KDKA reception room, is the result of six months' labor with penknife and no other tools

Eugene has made 12 models of boats which have brought him from $30 to $85 each. His creations are really marvelous. Old Ironsides, The Mayflower and frigates of by-gone days give him inspiration.

Whitlatch is the son of the Rev. Charles J. Whitlatch, of 913 Mifflin avenue, Wilkinsburg.

TELEGRAM! The announcers at WCAE turn thespians today, appearing at the Harris Theater stage shows as accessories to Victor Graff, the m. c. They will do a miniature studio stunt, Herb McGee at 1:30 and 4 in the afternoon and Fred Webber and Paul Grine at 6:30 and 9 at night. If the boys don't know what "Telegram!" means we would advise them to find out right away.

A powerful eagle that frightened KFI artists by swooping down on them on the station roof garden in Los Angeles, was shot the other day. It measured 67 inches from wing tip to wing tip.

This is not a football signal but the music tuner's parlance for the international pitch which is used in tuning pianos, hand bells, chimes in local studios.

The life of a radio tuner is devastating at times. The difficulty comes in symphonizing the pitch for all the instruments in the studio. Pianos use the fiendish tempered scale and the hand bells—like all bells—have two or three distinct notes on each tap. "And," as one of the tuners sadly comments, "the next ukulele player will play a quarter-tone off for half an hour and get a million offers of marriage by the next mail. What a world!"

TODAY'S TID BIT:

"Bill" Farren, KDKA announcer, once was a student at the United States Naval Academy. "Bill" has a clear, distinct enunciation — especially his KayDeeKayA—and the pioneer station considers him a real "find."

Tale of Ancient Pharaoh.

To Thotmos, a Pharaoh of Egypt 10 centuries before the birth of Christ, Marco, the legendary hero of the Silver Flute, tells the tale of Ahknaton, a Pharaoh who lived many years before Thotmos.

Marco warns Thotmos not to impose the belief of a single diety upon his people lest he suffer the end of Ahknaton, who held a similar belief. Ahknaton believed that the sun was the only diety and forthwith began to abolish the priests and destroy the temples of the older gods. His heresy ran well with the plans of Horemhib, a general, who encouraged the people in a time of stress to rise against Ahknaton. When the people called upon Ahknaton to ask the olden gods for their aid against enemies, Ahknaton refused. He walked calmly before them with his wife at his side. But the mob surged about the pair, and in a burst of frenzy, killed Ahknaton and his queen.

Second Act, "Lohengrin."

The entire second act of Wagner's opera, "Lohengrin," presented by an outstanding cast of Chicago Civic Opera artists, including Hallie Stiles as "Elsa" and Rene Maison as "Lohengrin," will be offered.

Not only is the opera to be presented one of the most beloved of Wagnerian masterpieces, but the second act, which will be broadcast, includes some of the finest arias of the work. A wide contrast of theme and treatment, ranging from the dark plottings of Ortrude and Telramund, the angelic purity of Elsa's love song, the majestic strains of the wedding march as Lohengrin and Elsa proceed to the nuptial altar, and the tempestuous music of Ortrude's denunciation on the steps of the cathedral, make the act one of the most interesting in operatic repertoire. In its stage presentation, the wedding scene is one of the most gorgeous spectacles in opera, and the tremendous range and vitality of the music make it particularly adapted for broadcasting purposes.

Ill Health Blamed In Latrobe Suicide

RADIO JAM HERE PROTESTED

Several petitions received by local broadcasters recently appeal for better wavelengths in the next allocations to be made by the Federal Radio Commission the end of this month, when licenses expire and renewals are granted.

Since the last drastic shakeup of stations about a year ago there have been intermittent rumblings of dissatisfaction from Pittsburgh listeners who complain that WCAE, WJAS and KQV are "too crowded" on the dial. Fans seem to be satisfied with the KDKA frequency of 305.9 meters, but they are not hesitant in saying that the other three stations are bunched too close for sharp tuning.

One letter received by WJAS yesterday asked that the aid of City Council and the Chamber of Commerce be invoked in changing the situation here.

Inventor of Flying Machine Dies In Poor House

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 4.—Believed by his friends to have been the first man to have built and flown a heavier-than-air flying machine, Prof. William Schick died in the County Home here. His machine, which employed internal combustion as the means of propulsion, was flown by him on a field at Monongahela, Pa., July 4, 1898, but was destroyed in landing.

Schick's craft consisted of a cylindrical tin body 40 feet long and 16 inches in diameter. Canvas bags were attached to the body. Black powder caps were so contained in a tube that they would drop one at a time into the explosion chamber and ignite. The gas produced would inflate the canvas bags and lift the machine, and the force of the explosion would drive the machine.

J. G. ARMSTRONG RECOVERING

County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong expects to be back on the job next week. He appeared at his office yesterday afternoon, stayed a few minutes and then went back home.

It was the commissioner's first time in his office in four weeks. He has been confined to his bed with a severe attack of rheumatism.

Plainly showing the effect of the pain that he has endured while battling with the rheumatic condition, he nevertheless was in a jocular mood. Tendering his left hand for a handshake, he smiled and said: "They've told me I must be careful and not catch cold for if I get pneumonia I am liable to die. I'm not ready to die yet, I want to see how the world turns out. I've been full of rheumatism, but by next week I expect to be able to work."

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Jan. 4.

WE HAVE our fun out here, day in and out, joking about the East mired down in snow and galoshes, panics and poor coaching, while we bask in sunshine, roses and fine football, but let's be good sports and admit it, boys, we need rain. This is not just an admission, I will make it a motion, that it be called a prayer.

Take it from a tax payer, and a man that still has vacant lots to sell, it hasn't rained here since Noah took two of every kind of moving picture actor and actress into the ark with him. Moths have lived on rain coats for years.

They revived the great stage play of "Rain," and had a footnote telling the audience what it was that was dripping outside. This is mighty dry humor, but friends, we would welcome the Johnstown flood right now.

Yours.

WILL.

P. S.—California papers go ahead and print this, and show 'em we can take it on the chin and still grin.

COWS TAUGHT HIM TO DANCE, WILL RODGERS TELLS LADY FRIEND

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 4.

HIS name is Wiley Hill. He's a Montana rancher with a herd of 700 cattle roaming his Montana ranch. He also owns a ranch just below Noah Beery's paradise trout ranch in the mountains, 90 miles from Hollywood.

Hill is a stocky built man. He spent his younger years riding herd, whooping it up in Wild West shows, touring the country in his own show, and mooching in the movies. He has settled down now, more or less. He supplies horses to the sturdier souls who travel to Noah's ranch. And frequently he regales his guests with stories of the West of yesterday. And frequently he drawls a thin thread of philosophy through his conversation. And frequently, he will talk of this and that personality.

Will Rogers

Apropos of personalities, Hill got to ruminating about Will Rogers. A group of us had ridden a goodly climb into the mountains to view the waterfalls that gurgle and roar over a rugged, rocky cliff gulching into what was once a deep chasm eons ago.

We were sitting below the waterfalls and Hill got to talking. He recalled Will Rogers at a party in the days when Will was a cowhand in Oklahoma.

There was dancing on the sidewalk and tables set to one side for non-dancing guests. Around one table sat Rogers and Hill and a coupla cronies. A lady friend of Hill traipsed over and he asked her to dance. She, in turn, confessed she would like awfully much to meet Will Rogers. So Hill did the introducing. And Will asked her to dance.

Will was a mean hoofer even in those days. The lady was wide-eyed with astonishment.

"I didn't know cowboys could dance so well," she exclaimed.

"Sho, that ain't nuthin," grinned Rogers.

"But how do you learn?" she persisted.

"Well," calculated Will, "I reckon we learn from the cows!"

Joan Crawford Is Witty Girl

Joan Crawford was listening to Benny Rubin talk more than little bit about his new baby. Benny concluded with a serious: "I wonder what the first word she says will be?"

Joan Crawford

Nikita Balieff has come to town. Balieff is the moon-faced "Chauve Souris" impresario here to prepare his new show for the cash customers.

During his absence from Los Angeles, Balieff has done quite a bit of traveling. Shanghai was one of his stops. Whilst there, he visited a Chinese film studio. The director took great pleasure in telling him that his set musicions had discarded their blatant Oriental tunes in favor of modern music. About this time, the director was ready to shoot a nuptial scene. The bride and groom were ready to walk down the aisle to the altar.

And the musicians swung into the tune with "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers!"

Mr. Hill summed up showmanship as being too hard to sustain. "A man can get the same kick outta life fightin' with his wife," he opined.

And that being sufficiently decisive, we departed the Waterfalls.

Mary Lawlor—she who will sing the lead in M. G. M.'s musikoutloud, "Good News"—has leased a home in Beverly Hills. She has also had calling cards printed. In one corner are the initials: "S. P."

"What does that stand for?" she was asked."

Wouldn't Be Mix For Whole State

And then there was Tom Mix. Hill recollected the time he saw Tom do a scene that called for him to gallop his horse down a road. A rope stretched across the road. It caught Tom in the pit of the stomach. The horse galloped on. Tom hung on the rope and dropped to the road unconscious. It took a few minutes to revive him.

Tom Mix

"That was more'n I' do," said Mr. Hill, histing up his sombrero and scratching his head. "I wouldn't do a stunt like that for California, much less for $7,500 a week!"

Credit Will Ahern with saying the biggest hit in Paris this season is a revue in which the chorus girls' costumes came by radio. . .

MYSTERY HIT THRILLS AT ENRIGHT

By HOWARD L. BROWNING, Jr.

An excellent mystery melodrama opened at the Enright Theater yesterday, unspoiled by its perpetuation of the hard-to-down myth of the sleuthing, Johnny-on-the-spot police reporter, gone society for this particular movie.

"In the Next Room" is the "Phantom of the Opera" Americanized, with a poker-faced butler doing a good job of pinch-hitting for the Phantom, or Lon Chaney, and a New York mansion striving to attain the dignity of the Paris opera house.

The dead arise. The living fall, mortally wounded, or disappear. The hero—Jack Mulhall, as the reporter—goes Scot free, of course. The heroine, our well-known Alice Day, escapes once, is returned once by the Chaney-esque villain. The said villain is perfectly obvious throughout the show.

What is not obvious until the very end is how, and why. Nor is there an anti-climax.

And if I have given away any of the plot, I didn't mean to. With "In the Next Room" on the screen, it would be foolish to expect much of the stage show. If you don't, you will have a pleasant surprise when you see a gang of chic chorines cavorting through some really good tap dancing, with Jay Mills right there all the time. The headliners, commonplace, have at least selected the least wearisome of the trite song and dance numbers.

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's Question: Are we happier in this modern age of comfort than we were in the much-talked-of "good old days"?

JEAN FROMMER, Oakland, secretary: "Yes, I think we are happier, because every person nowadays is able to enjoy more of the comforts and luxuries than they were able to have in the old days. Formerly it was just the wealthier class that had the luxuries."

Miss Frommer

MRS. ANNA G. PRICE, North Side, secretary: "I think maybe we are. We all have comforts. The former days were not better than these. The good old days are the bunk."

Mrs. Price

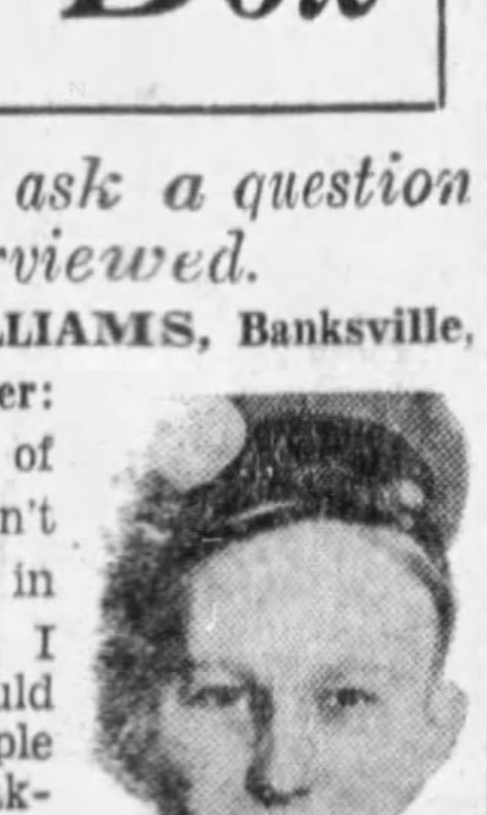
JOSEPHINE BRAUN, Lawrenceville, secretary: "Yeah, mostly 'talked of.' I hope to tell you we are—much more. The 'good old days' were a lot of bologney — they didn't have any fun then. What about these days? We have lots of fun. And how!"

Miss Braun

PAULINE SHUFLER, East End, secretary: "We are more so now, because we have so many more things we can do now than we could then. Women and girls are more independent, for one thing. We don't have to carry water in from the pump on cold winter mornings to wash our hands and face, any more."

Miss Shufler

LLOYD WILLIAMS, Banksville, letter carrier: "That's sort of hard to say, isn't it? Taken all in all, however, I think we should be, for the simple reason that, taking everything into consideration, we have things nowadays that we didn't have in the olden days: such as autos, airplanes, street cars, flaming youth and short skirts."



Lloyd Williams

GEORGE RICHARDSON, Dormont, building officer: "Sure, we're happier. People are better educated, and luxuries are cheaper than they used to be. Shoes fit better, and people don't work so hard. They have more time for pleasures and have better pleasures to pick from."

George Richardson

PUBLIX SHOW OPENS IN STANLEY

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

Like bottle labels in this Volstead era the Broadway stamp doesn't always mean very much. Take, for example, "Mardi Gras," new stage show which opened yesterday in the Stanley. Out of the East it came—widely heralded, "direct from New York"—as the first of the Warner-Publix units to play here. And if its "New York" tag leads to flighty hopes and expectations, well, come back to earth. Though an entertaining show, it is not such an unusual show.

"Mardi Gras" does have settings and costumes more elaborate than those that have been the habit in the Stanley. And it does have a certain "class" and does move at a pretty fast tempo—that is, after a hesitant opening. Also it arouses enthusiasm at the grand finale. Yet its chorus and ensemble work is ordinary. So is its music. And the whole thing impresses as not being a very well conceived production.

THE TALENT INCLUDES

Featured talent includes a troupe of wire performers who do neat and narrow tricks; a clown who is a clown, and two fellows, billed as "The Gobs," who say comedy with silly, effeminate gestures and who end up by exhibiting some difficult dance steps.

Dick Powell continues as master of ceremonies. And, in spite of all the "imported" talent, he is one of the big attractions as far as the audience is concerned.

IT IS TO LAUGH

"The Kibitzer," a rather hilarious comedy, is on the talk screen. Harry Green, Yiddish comedian, plays the title role—that of a fellow who knows everything from playing someone else's hand at pinochle to picking the "right" horse for someone else to bet on at the races. There are many funny situations in the film. One of these concerns the Kibitzer in combat with the stock market.

Though Green is practically THE picture, Mary Brian and Neil Hamilton are present and put in some love interest. The rotund Albert Grant also is there and is as fat and funny as ever.

Oh yes, there is a Bernie Armstrong organlogue.

Body of Slain Man Discovered in Field

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 4.—Badly mutilated, the body of John Hegedus, 55, steel mill worker, was found in a field near Campbell, Mahoning County. He had been beaten about the head and his skull and neck revealed many knife gashes. Indications were that the man had been hauled to the spot in a child's express wagon, with his head dangling over the side.

Driver of Auto Hit By Train Succumbs

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 4.—Crushed and burned when his automobile was struck by a railroad train and burst into flames at a grade crossing at Fetterman, Cecil Fitzwater, 21, of Webster, died this morning in a hospital. He was a son of the late Jacob Fitzwater and is survived by his mother and several brothers and sisters.

Man Hurt Seriously At Work on Bridge

ROCHESTER, Pa., Jan. 4.—Alfred Nagg, 36, of Brownsville, Pa., employed on the new Rochester-Monaca bridge over the Ohio river, suffered a fractured skull today when struck by a tackle block while at work. He was lowered to a barge and rushed to the Rochester Hospital where he is in a critical condition.

Constable Injured As Auto Hits Pole

When an automobile he was driving skidded on the icy highway and crashed into a pole at Lowrie's Run and Perrysville roads, West View, Constable Edward V. Stokes, of Tingley avenue, Bellevue, suffered lacerations and bruises of the face last night. He was attended by a physician and taken to his home.

Eddie Cantor Rises to Say:

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 4.

EVERYBODY, including the British, must remember, with awe, the Boston tea party.

History repeats itself.

Bostonians held quite a mass meeting, after which, on the famous commons, they tore down and trampled on posters belonging to a coast guard recruiting station.

Good. I don't blame them for being stirred up.

Now, if the Boston citizenry will only get "het up" enough to get rid of its Watch and Ward society, the organization which recently put a fine, respectable bookshop owner in jail for having sold a book considered immoral only by the Watch and Ward society.

Then, if Boston really got "steamed up" it could invite the Theater Guild to bring "Strange Interlude" to its city, so that her citizens would not have to travel out of town to see this great American play.

P. S.—By the way, have they "cleaned up" the burlesque show any?

THURSTON HAS SOME NEW MAGIC

Thurston, who opens his twenty-fourth annual Pittsburgh engagement in the Alvin Monday night, has more than a score of new illusions. The most sensational of them he calls "Iasia," in which a woman vanishes over the heads of the audience.

"Paid In Full" will be next week's attraction in the Pitt. Harland Tucker, Mabel Kroman, Gus Forbes and other members of the George Sharp Players will be in the cast.

"Wall Street," a film featuring Ralph Ince and Aileen Pringle, opens on the Harris screen today. There will be a stage show also, marking the debut of a chorus of eight girls.

IN HUSBAND ROLE

Lewis Stone plays another misunderstood-husband role as Norma Shearer's father in "Their Own Desire" film, which comes to the Penn Monday, January 6, as a new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer all-talking picture. Stone won his first laurels upon the screen in parts of this nature, but recently has been seen in more tragic characterizations in "Madame X," "The Trial of Mary Dugan" and "Wonder of Women."

Marilyn Miller is supported by Joe E. Brown, Alexander Gray and Pert Kelton in the all-talking, all natural color screen version of the stage success, "Sally," now in the Warner, formerly the Grand.

Jack Mulhall is supported by a cast including Alice Day, Robert O'Connor and Jane Winton, in his latest all-talking production, "In the Next Room," which is current in the Enright. "First Gala Anniversary Revue" is on the stage.

"CONDEMNED" STAYS

Louis Wolheim, featured in "Condemned," Ronald Colman's starring vehicle which opens a third week in the Aldine Monday, has nearly always played villains during his screen career and he had to suffer violent death in almost every known form at least 45 times.

James Cruze's first all-dialogue production, "The Great Gabbo," is now being presented in the R-K-O Sheridan Square. Erich von Stroheim and Betty Compson are featured.

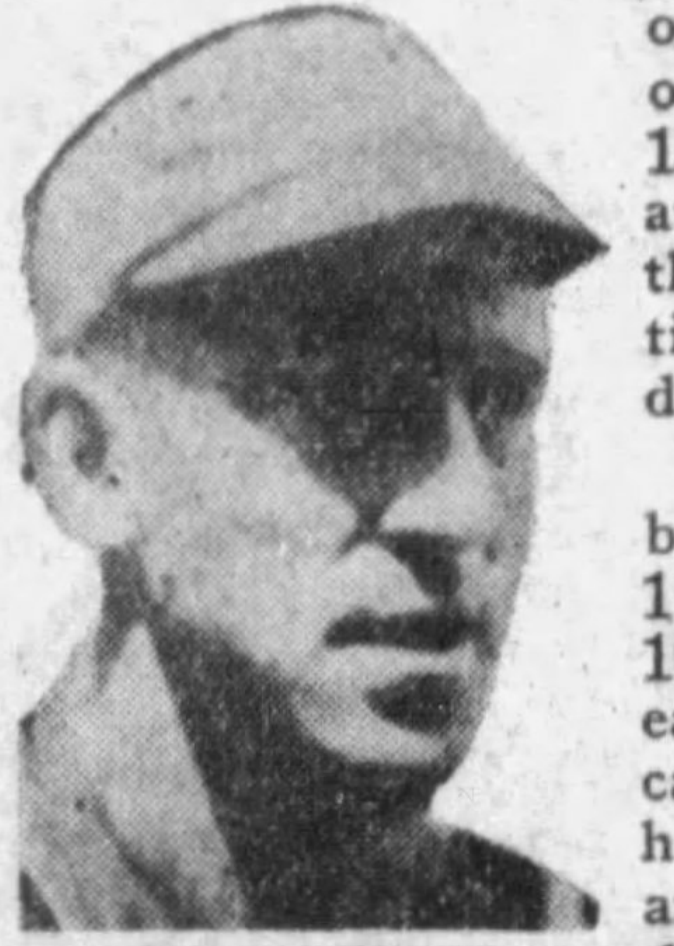
FAMILIAR FIGURES WILL BE MISSING



Johnny Mostil.

MANY familiar faces will be missing from the playing ranks of the major baseball leagues when the teams go to the post in April for the pennant race of 1930. A large number of well-known figures have passed out of the big show since the close of the 1929 season, and judging from the rate at which releases are still being issued, the managers are not yet near the quitting point in the operation of cutting down the aged timber.

Yesterday Johnny Mostil, who has been outfielding for the White Sox since 1921, following a preliminary tryout in 1918, was shipped to Toledo. One day earlier, Mike Gonzales, a big league catcher for 14 full seasons, was given his freedom by the Cubs. And these are only the latest additions to one of the longest outbound parades of fading veterans that ever marked an off-season in the diamond sport.

MAX CAREY has been dropped by the Dodgers and is still without a job; Joe Dugan is in the same fix after being turned loose by the Braves; Dave Bancroft, cast adrift by the Dodgers, has become a Giant coach; Earl Sheely has been transferred to San Francisco by the Pirates; Butch Henline has been shipped to Toledo by the Dodgers, and Jackie Tavener has passed from the Indians to Fort Worth.

George Harper and Arthur Delaney have left the Braves for Los Angeles; the Yankees have sent Wilcy Moore, Benny Paschal and John Grabowski to St. Paul; Alex Gaston goes from the Red Sox to San Francisco; Emil Yde changes his address from Detroit to Hollywood; the Pirates have released Fred Fussell to Buffalo and Claude Linton to Baltimore; Bill Zitzmann shifts from the Reds to Newark, and the Dodgers have given Win Ballou a ticket to Los Angeles.

AMONG the former Pirates passing along is Mike Cvengros, released to Indianapolis by the Cubs. Still another is Jimmy Zinn, whom the Indians have decided not to retain. Walter French moves from the Athletics to Portland. Joe Hauser heads for Baltimore, and Norman McMillan leaves the Cubs for Kansas City.

Mike Cvengros.

EVEN some of the best-known managerial figures of past years will be absent when the 1930 season begins. Donie Bush, Bill McKechnie and Dan Howley, though leaving their old clubs, will remain in the majors on new jobs as pilots, but Miller Huggins has passed to the Beyond, Bill Carrigan has retired, and Russell Blackburne and Jack Hendricks also will be out of the picture unless they catch on as coaches. The coaching ranks, too, will show a number of shifts and passings. Truly an extraordinary year for the departure of old favorites.

BASKETBALL followers of this section are confident that if Charley Hyatt, Panther forward, and one of the greatest floor stars ever developed at Pitt, decides when his college days are over to accept the offer tendered by the Cleveland Rosenblums and enter the professional ranks, he will prove an exception to a rule that has been holding strongly in the American League.

That is, that college players cannot make the grade to regular positions in that classy wing of professional basketball. So few have been able to do it thus far, in proportion to the great number who have tried, that some of the league chiefs contend the leap from collegiate stardom to success in the pro ranks is even harder to negotiate in basketball than in baseball.

AFTER making a canvass of the American League, Ted Vosburgh reports that of the 70 men now playing in that major circuit, only 14 ever went to college. That means just one-fifth of the total. And of the 14 former collegians on the various rosters, only six may be classed as regulars.

Charley Hyatt.

If Hyatt joins the Rosenblums he will hold the distinction of being the only former collegiate star on that famous team. Neither the champion Rosenblum squad nor the Brooklyn club has a solitary college man on its list.

FORT WAYNE has two of the best of the college products in Shang Chadwick, of Wabash, center, and Frank Shimek, of Iowa, a guard. Chicago has Gilbert Ely, of Michigan, who plays either forward or guard, also Whitey Wickhorst, of Michigan; Tilly Voss, of Detroit, and Arthur Bramhill, former Windy City scholastic star, all substitutes; Rochester's only collegian is Tiny Hearn, of Georgia Tech, star center, who towers 6 feet 9 inches. The famous forward, Nat Holman, now with Syracuse, attended Savage Institute and College of the City of New York, but it was not at college that he acquired the rare skill that for years made him the outstanding player of the floor sport.

SYRACUSE, incidentally, has done more experimenting with college men than any other team in the league. In addition to Holman, it has used Eddie Wineapple, of Providence, at forward; Gotch Carr, of Syracuse, also at forward; Joe Gillian, who is working his way through Syracuse University by playing the professional game, and Marty Barry, of Albany Law School. Paterson has Stretch Boilerman, of Colgate, center, and Red Scheer, of Penn.

Wineapple's case in particular shows how hard it is for a collegian to win a place in such fast company as the American League. At Providence, Eddie was the third highest college scorer in the East last season and was picked as an all-America forward. But he has failed to make good at Syracuse and all the other clubs have waived on him. He made a lot of baskets, but it is said there was "too much football" in his playing, with the result that he made many unnecessary fouls. Wineapple, by the way, is to get a tryout with the Washington baseball club as a left-hand pitcher.

THAT it's never too late to take up a profession, is the belief of Charley White, former lightweight battler of left-hook fame. He will be 39 years old on March 25 next, but he has entered De Paul University in Chicago as a law student, and some day it's going to be Attorney Charles Anchowitz, the ex-fighter's proper name.

Cardinals Sign Mickey O'Neill

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 4.—(AP.)—Mickey O'Neill, veteran catcher, has been signed by the St. Louis Cardinals, President Sam Breadon announced yesterday. O'Neill has served with several major league clubs, both National and American, but in 1928 he was with Toledo of the American Association and last year he was with Louisville until sent to his home here because of an arm injury. He has recovered.

PITT SET FOR NEBRASKA

BUCS TO LEAVE FOR NEW YORK TONIGHT

By CARL W. SHATTO.

Unless Les Patrick and his Rangers have been keeping close tab on the doings of the Pirates in recent games, the New York skaters may receive something of shock when they play host to the local puckmen at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

In two previous meetings with the Bucs this season the Rangers made off with 5-3 and 5-1 decisions. It is only reasonable to suppose that the wearers of the red pants, recalling these results, do not regard Pilot Frank Frederickson's warriors as particularly formidable opponents.

BUCS START CLIMB

And Patrick and his Rangers may be right—the Pirates have shown plenty of fight and class in defeating Detroit and Ottawa in two of their last three starts; their defense has been strengthened by the acquisition of Gordon Fraser and Jess Spring and the return to form of Johnny MacKinnon; their offense has been pepped up by the return to the lineup of Hib Milks, and their morale has been improved by the return to the scene of activities of Manager Frederickson.

Moreover, the Bucs did not resemble so many lambs getting ready for the slaughter as they went through a final light workout at Duquesne Garden today. There seems to be no lack of confidence in the Corsair camp, and although Frederickson and Herb Drury still are crippled, it is not likely that there will be any lack of it when they set sail for New York tonight.

RANGERS IN SLUMP

It may be doing the Rangers an injustice to insinuate that they will be a little chesty in welcoming the Bucs. Patrick's puckmen have annexed only one victory in their last four games, and the 7-1 setback which they received at the hands of the Americans Thursday night, their last time out, was not exactly conducive to overconfidence.

SHARKEY CUTS MIAMI BOUT

BOSTON, Jan. 4.—(AP.)—Jack Sharkey severed all relations with the Madison Square Garden Corporation here yesterday when, according to Johnny Buckley, his manager, the Boston heavyweight emphatically refused to participate in the Miami bout which the New York organization planned for February 27.

Sharkey and Buckley held two long conferences with William F. Carey, the Madison Square Garden head, and they became hopelessly deadlocked when, as the manager expressed it, "Carey tried to cram Tuffy Griffiths down Sharkey's throat."

Although Sharkey's contract with the Garden, which expires on March 15, calls for a percentage, Buckley said his heavyweight refused to even consider Carey's offer of a flat $100,000 guarantee to fight Griffiths.

Sharkey, according to his manager, told Carey he would take either Phil Scott or Vittorio Campolo as a Miami opponent, and when they were refused him he abruptly ended the negotiations and told Carey he would not fight again until next June, when he expects to meet Max Schmeling in a Milk Fund bout in New York or Chciago.

Sharkey's refusal to fight, however, did not deter him from leaving here last night for Miami, with his wife, three children and grandparents, for a six-weeks' stay. He already has rented a cottage at the Florida resort and planned his trip several months ago.

When Carey and his party, which included Frank Bruen, general manager of the Madison Square Garden, and Tom McArdle, his matchmaker, left for New York, one of them intimated that the Garden did not intend to abandon its Miami plans because of Sharkey's refusal, and that Carey probably would announce a Campolo-Primo Carnera bout for its new Florida arena within a few days.

Speaker to Pilot Newark Again, Block Says

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Tris Speaker will manage the Newark International League club again next season, Paul Block, owner of the club, said yesterday in answer to rumors that Speaker would sign to manage the Brooklyn National League club.

"Speaker's contract has one more year to run," said Block, "and I have heard nothing about him going elsewhere. We have already made definite plans with him for next year's team."

YESTERDAY'S ANSWERS: BILLIARD AND POOL BALLS CAN BE MADE FROM CHEESE—Although not all pool and billiard balls are made from cheese, it is known in chemical circles that a solution of 40 per cent formaldehyde and 60 per cent cottage cheese will make a material hard enough for pool balls.

SKIBOS, W. VA. TO BATTLE AT MORGANTOWN

The sensational University of Nebraska basketball team, which defeated West Virginia University at Morgantown Thursday night, 45 to 19, battles the undefeated Pitt Panthers in the Stadium Pavilion tonight. The Panthers, forced to play overtime to defeat Ohio State last Tuesday, appear to be in for an even stiffer test in battling the big Cornhuskers.

TECH AT MORGANTOWN

While Pitt is playing at home, the Carnegie Tech passers, who have won their first two games, clash with West Virginia at Morgantown. The Tartans will be out to end the Mountaineers' streak of five successive victories over them in basketball.

In other collegiate battles tonight, Bethany plays Penn State at State College, Wash-Jeff opposes the Tarentum Y. M. C. A. on the latter's floor and Marshall College opposes its alumni team.

The lineups:

DUKES SWAMP ALFRED

Chick Davies' Duquesne University passers literally swamped the barnstorming Alfred University courtmen, 41 to 19, in their battle in the Duke gym last night. The victory marked the third in a row for the Bluffites, who are still handicapped with the loss of Capt. Ganzy Benedict. At no time did Alfred hold an advantage over the Dukes, trailing from the game's outset.

Brud Stephens, acting captain, was playing in brilliant form. He registered five field goal and one out of two foul tried. Ben Lubic took the individual scoring honors, however, he getting no less than four field goals and five out of seven foul shots.

Alfred meets John Carroll University in Cleveland tonight in the final game of its tour. The lineup:

Abele	F	Wenger
Lubic	F	Reuber
McGeever	C	Kickham
Stephens	G	McFadden
Parry	G	Fabianic

Score by halves:

Individual fouls—Duquesne, 11 out of 18; Alfred, 5 out of 17.

Individual fouls—Duquesne, Abele, none out of 1; Lubic, 5 out of 7; McGeever, 1 out of 1; Stephens, 1 out of 2; Parry, 1 out of 4; Wilder, 2 out of 2; Vernon, 1 out of 1.

PITT GRIDDERS START JOURNEY HOMEWARD

By JESS CARVER,
Staff Correspondent.

EN ROUTE ACROSS CALIFORNIA WITH PITT FOOTBALL TEAM, Jan. 4.—As you read this, the varsity football squad of the University of Pittsburgh is rolling across fertile California, homeward bound after its second trip to the Coast for intersectional football warfare.

Pitt's disappointing showing in the Rose Bowl in Pasadena on New Year's Day is history now. After all, it was another football game, that 47-14 trouncing administered by the inspired warriors of Southern California. At least, that is the way we Easterners care to regard it. To the West, it is another matter entirely.

TO VISIT INDIANS

The Panther party is headed for the famous Indian detrou, whatever that may be, and will spend the next couple days sightseeing. Besides visiting the Hopi Indian reservation (pronounced like "whoopee") the boys will take a squint or two at the Grand Canyon. After the Canyon stop, the special pullmans of the Pittsburghers will streak for the Mississippi, and after crossing Old Man River, will bowl along right merrily, we hope, for home. The battle-scarred Pitt ship is scheduled to dock next Thursday night. Hooray!

A good sized crowd of well wishers were on hand at the Santa Fe station in Los Angeles early this morning as the Panthers clambered sleepily into their cars, one can't blame the unknown native son who sped the departing guests on their way with this crack.

"Come back next year, boys, you make us look good."

It was quite interesting to observe the way in which coast football critics took pot shots at Pop Warner following the defeat of the Pitt eleven by U. S. C.

It seems that the venerable Pop

SHIRES BARRED BY N. B. A.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 4.—(AP.)—The pugilistic ambitions of Arthur (The Great) Shires were checked abruptly here early last night by the National Boxing Association, which temporarily suspended "The Great One" from boxing in 32 states. The association, however, made no attempt to quiet the verbal tactics of the White Sox boxer.

Stanley Isaacs, president of the Association announced the suspension. Isaacs' ruling came after a long-distance telephone call from James M. Brown, chairman of the Michigan State Athletic Commission. The latter told Isaacs that Shires was charged with fixing a bout with Battling Criss, at Detroit, last night.

Shires will be given a hearing before the Michigan commission on January 9, Isaacs said. The head of the National Association declared that any ruling handed down by the Wolverine body would be approved by the parent organization.

Isaacs also announced that the application of the Colorado Boxing Commission for membership in the National Boxing Association had been approved.

GARDEN TO SET RECORD FOR MITT SHOWS

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Motor Square Garden will set a new record for the number of boxing shows held there in a season before it closes down next April or May. The Sergt. Sammy Baker-Joe Trippe show next Monday night will be the thirteenth of the campaign in the East End arena, and last year only 12 were held in the entire season.

Three gaps will appear in the weekly schedule before the curtain is rung down, according to Manager John L. Hernon. After next week's show will come a Tony Herrera-Tommy Crawley card on January 13.

There will be no boxing on January 20 and 27, because of the automobile show, the next bouts being carded for February 3. A show also will be held on February 10, but February 17 and 24 and March 3 are blank dates insofar as boxing is concerned because of the airplane and food shows that will be held in the building. After that, unless other bookings interfere, there will be a mitt show every Monday night until the weather becomes too warm for indoor boxing.

TO EXTEND SEASON

The club does not intend to make the mistake of closing down too early, as was the case last year, when, after staging its last show on April 22, it learned that it easily could have operated for a month or six weeks more under the mild weather conditions.

It is possible that as many as 25 shows will be squeezed into the present season, which should prove the most profitable one in the Garden's boxing history. So far, in 12 shows, only one has failed to make money. That was the Tommy Freeman-Jack Manley affair, arranged on a few days' notice.

Incidentally, Matchmaker Jules Beck, of the Garden, boasts a good

ROSENBLOOM BEATS LOMSKI

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—(AP.)—Maxie Rosenbloom, the Harlequin of Harlem, played a leather overtures in ragtime tempo on the head and body of durable Leo Lomski last night to win the 10-round "rubber" battle of the prominent light-heavyweights in easy fashion before a scant crowd of 8,500.

George Courtney, Oklahoma cowboy, won an unpopular decision over Joe Banovic, of Binghamton, N. Y., in a savage 10-round semi-final. Banovic took a nine count under a low righthand smash in the eighth. Banovic weighed 174, Courtney 168.

Banovic was in Polyclinic Hospital this morning as a result of injuries suffered in his bout with George Courtney. Courtney was booed lustily for a number of low blows he landed during the bout. After Banovic had gone to his dressing room, it was learned he was severely injured. He was taken to the Polyclinic Hospital for observation. Physicians there declined to comment as to his condition.

TWO NATIONAL AMATEUR CUP TIES TODAY

PIERPOINTS TO ENCOUNTER THOMS RUN

TODAY'S GAMES.
NATIONAL AMATEUR CUP.
Thoms Run at Pierpoint Motors.
Heidelberg Eagles at Clan Douglas.

By TOM BIRKS.

Two real good soccer games will be on display this afternoon, both titles in the National Amateur Cup race. Each game will find a representative of the district league opposing a Chartiers Valley outfit.

At the Homewood playground, the 1928 Junior champions will meet the Pierpoints, and the Motors aggregation is in for 90 minutes of hard football. Thoms Run will give the Moreman eleven plenty of action before the referee blows the final whistle. Many fans are picking the Chartiers Valley eleven to win this game. However, the Motors should win, for many veterans who have been through hard cup fights will be in the Pierpoint lineup, and this experience should beat Thoms Run. The Panhandle boys have the spirit, determination and cup-fighting feeling, however, to make a good game, it will be called at 2:30.

The other session will be flashed at Swissvale, where the Heidelberg Eagles, a junior outfit of last season, meets the Clan Douglas squad. The Eagles play the type of soccer taught in Heidelberg, swinging the ball around with an idea of getting goals, and they will be opposed to the most scientific soccer club in the district. They will fight hard, but again experience should play a big part in the ultimate outcome. Both battles should be played to capacity crowds.

It would be quite an upset if the Chartiers entries win both games, but soccer football is just like other sports—it is the unexpected that keeps the thrill in the game. The Pierpoint Motors probably will visit Detroit next Sunday, meeting the Holly Carburetors, a professional club, this time in the National open competition.

How to Play Basketball

What is the proper way of executing the free throw?

Answered by
E. S. DEAN

Basketball coach, Indiana University. Tied for Western Conference championship

The underhand method of shooting free throws is recognized as best for the majority. Some players can shoot better with the breast shot form. Permit players to shoot with form with which they can get the highest degree of accuracy.

The technique of free throw is greater than most people realize. First the player should assume a correct position on the free throw mark. Be very sure to be exactly in line with the basket because if you are not, your accuracy will be impaired. Always stand exactly same distance from the free throw mark and as close to it as possible, which makes for uniformity in distance.

The next step is to properly balance the ball in the hands. Do not palm the ball, but instead grasp it with the fingers, thus bringing it into control of the small muscles. After the ball is perfectly balanced, then look at the basket and concentrate only long enough to measure the distance. Concentrate on the front rim and use an arc large enough to utilize all the opening of the basket. If the ball is arched too high, accuracy will be lessened, therefore use a medium arc.

As the player shoots he uses a full or half squat with complete relaxation. In the squat, there should be a pendulum swing of the arms with a full follow through.

FIGHTING POSE
How would you like to see this 6-foot 10-inch giant come tearing at you from the opposite corner of a 24-foot ring? Young Stribling fought it out with him twice in Europe and lost one fight on a foul and won the other one the same way. Primo, the biggest heavyweight boxer since Jess Willard's time, has just arrived in New York to show us how he does his stuff in the ring.

GARDEN TO SET RECORD

money record. He has arranged something like 50 shows since he broke in, and of these only three have failed to finish on the right side of the ledger. He staged five open-air shows on his own hook at Duquesne, beginning in 1925, and only one, featuring Ike McFowler and Jim Sigman, forced him to dig down in his pockets to pay off.

SUFFERS FEW LOSSES

At the Garden, last year and this, Beck has put on 25 shows, with the Freeman thing the only bloomer, and, at the Meyers Bowl, in North Braddock, last summer the Fourth of July show, sandwiched in with two others in the same arena within eight days, failed to pan out. Altogether his three so-called "failures" have caused a loss of just a little more than $1,000, a mere trifle considering the fact that clubs in other cities frequently go for several thousands and upwards in a single show.

Between Rounds

Phil Goldstein, local lightweight, is going to New York tomorrow for some bouts his manager, Jimmy Bronson, has arranged for him in the East.

U. S. Carpentier, New Kensington featherweight, now is under the management of Johnny Deutsch, who also handles Jackie Rodgers, Hans Roberts and Harry Williams.

Rabbit Maranville will be one of the seconds of Al Spohrer, Braves' catcher, in the latter's bout with the Great Shires in Boston next Friday night. Al Friedman and Ernie Schaaf will box the main bout of the card.

Harry Williams has been rematched to box Goerge Panka, Homestead heavyweight, in the main bout of the farewell show at the Moose Temple next Friday night. They boxed a draw in the same ring a few weeks ago. After next Friday's show, Promoter Francis Flynn will transfer his headquarters to the Columbus Temple, which he will rename the Coliseum.

AKRON BEATEN

Long's Sport Comment

Charley entered the ring back in 1906 when only 15 years old, and did not hang up his gloves until 1923. In 1920 at Benton Harbor he came within a second or two of scoring a knockout over Benny Leonard, then lightweight champion. He drove Leonard out of the ring with a solid smash, but Benny clambered back inside the count and finally stopped White in the ninth round. Pittsburgh fans saw Leonard in action here against Dick DeSanders in 1916, against Johnny Ray in 1922, and against Jack Zivic in 1923.

Gene Sarazen.

THE attention of golf fans turns today to the Miami Open, one of four big winter tournaments scheduled at that Florida resort. The event starting today has become known as "Gene Sarazen's tournament," for the reason that Gene has won it the last three seasons, but indications are that the former Pittsburgher will find it no easy matter to retain his honors this time. Almost 150 golfers are entered, and the list includes such stars as Horton Smith, Johnny Golden, Johnny Farrell, Mike Brady, Leo Diegel, Willie McFarlane, Cyril Walker, Tommy Armour, Jim Barnes and others, who may be expected to make the going tough all the way.

PITT GRIDDERS START HOME

is not so very popular out here right now. He has been losing some ball games that his adherents, or rather, that Stanford adherents, thought he should have won, so they have the boy out on a limb now.

Pop came out here and pulled a couple fast ones on the natives right off the bat. And now that his Warner system is not functioning so well, either for himself or his pupils, the local hammers are pounding on his skull.

FOX SLIPPING

Howard Jones seems to have the number of the Old Fox. In five games against Stanford since Warner took charge, Jones has won two, holding Pop scoreless, tied him once and lost twice, once by the margin of a single point. Jones seems to have a very suitable panacea for the Warner reverse play. Or else he is the greatest developer of ends in football.

Jones is rapidly usurping the spotlight and regard which Warner hogged for so long, and Pop, though it seems cruel to say, looks like he is slipping. At least, that is the way they have it doped out here.

SUNBEAMS

Did you know that Jack Humber, captain-elect at West Point, is the only man who ever came from the ranks to captain an Army team? Humber was admitted to West Point from the regular army, and is regarded as one pip of a soldier.

A new sports organization has been formed, with Warren Brown, of Chicago, as president. It is to be called the Goofy Club and will hold a meeting at any given time, place or date. Included among the charter members are Christy Walsh, Dan Daniel, Spud Nelson, Mark Kelly, Abe Kemp, Jim Gould, Curly Grieve, Beans Reardon, Lefty O'Doul, Jack Kearns and Stuttering Sam Tankowitz.

The most important thing about the club is that the treasurer must be a non-member, not that the boys do not trust one another. But—you know how it is.

The Oregon Aggies made strong efforts to get Charley Bowser, Pitt's assistant coach, to consider an offer to come out to Oregon and coach. Our Charley said no . . . Thank Heavens!

T. W. MINTON DIES

BARBOURVILLE, Ky., Jan. 4.—(AP.)—Col. T. W. Minton, 79, owner of the nationally known Hickory Mountain Show Horse Stable and president of the T. W. Minton & Co., million dollar golf stick manufacturing plant here, died at his home yesterday after an illness of three days.

Shires Disgrace To Baseball, Landis Says

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 4.—(INS.) — Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball, commented on The Great Art Shires' case here yesterday.

"Speaking as one on the outside and not in my official capacity as baseball commissioner, I feel Shires' attempt to gain fame, or whatever it is, as a fighter, is a disgrace to baseball," Landis said.

No official action on his part will be taken, the commissioner said, until the boxing commission of Michigan has rendered a final decision.

Reports that Shires or his promotional backers had attempted to "frame" a fight in Michigan, has brought the pugnacious first baseman in disfavor with the Michigan boxing solons.

The new squad includes 17 men, and will play, in addition to its scheduled Eagle and Tiger games, a number of contests with junior reserve teams. The Royals will be coached by Vern Swartsfager. LAYTON, OTTO REISELT WIN CUE MATCHES

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—(AP.)—With a consistent brand of billiards, Johnny Layton, the carpenter cue wizard from St. Louis, opened the defense of his three-cushion title by defeating Harry Schuler, youthful New York star, 50 to 20, in the first game of the National tournament at Palm Garden, last night. Layton ran the block in 48 innings.

In a close and exciting contest in which the score was tied six times, Otto Reiselt, former champion, from Philadelphia, defeated Charles Jordan, of Los Angeles, 50 to 44 in 66 innings. Jordan, who was making his first appearance in a National professional tournament, battled the veteran sensationally all the way, but finally was forced to bow to his more experienced opponent.

The first afternoon play of the tournament today will see Gus Copulos, of Detroit, pitted against Harry Schuler and Augie Kieckhefer, former southpaw titleholder, from Chicago, meeting Otto Reiselt. The two night games bring together Allan Hall, youthful St. Louis star, and Charles Jordan, in the first contest, and Johnny Layton and Tiff Denton, of Kansas City, in the final game.

GROVE CITY, Pa., Jan. 4. — Westminster and Grove City resumed basketball rivalry here last night and Grove City accepted defeat. The score was 30-26. Two overtime periods were played.

Bewildering speed featured the play, hampering the scoring in the first period. Both teams got the range in the second half, when the lead shifted with every point. The game was deadlocked at the close, 25-25. A foul point was the best the rivals could tally in the first overtime session. After Delahunty and O'Donovan had scored in the second, the Titans played safe, holding a four-point lead until the finish.

Delahunty led the Titans with four baskets. Stavnitsky, forced out of the game early in the second half, was easily the Crimson star. The lineup:

Weather Conditions.

The high pressure area that was centered over the southern plains yesterday now overlies the Ohio valley and extends northward over the lakes to another center near Hudson Bay. The high is attended by clear skies and moderately cold weather. The skies are clear, generally everywhere east of the Rocky Mountains. There is no zero weather on the map, except over the Canadian Northwest, but the freezing line extends as far south as the Southern Gulf states. The Northwest low is still centered over the Washington and Oregon coast, and extends eastward to the northern plains. It is causing rising temperatures over the Plains states, but, as yet, no precipitation except along the Pacific coast.

River Conditions.

The upper rivers are now stationary, and the Ohio is about stationary above the Beaver. Stage at Franklin is 7.8 feet; Parkers Landing, 8.3; Lock No. 7, 14.1; Pittsburgh, 16.6; dam No. 4, 14.9; Dam No. 6, 16.9; Dam No. 9, 16.4, and Dam No. 12, 14.6. The upper rivers and the Ohio, at Pittsburgh, will fall. At Wheeling the river will continue to rise to between 19 and 20 feet on the old Wheeling gauge early Sunday morning.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

McLeods Hosts at Dance For Debutante Niece, Mary Blair Holmes

AND the debutante set is still dancing gayly through the nights, even after the whirl of the holiday season. This week-end, though, will be the grande finale of the season. And then the little butterflies of 1929 and the first days of 1930 will fold up their bright-hued wings, have their trunks packed, and gayly leave for the southland, ready for a southern season.

Last night the Norman McLeods, of Solway street, gave an interesting dinner dance for their debutante niece, Mary Blair Holmes, daughter of the Joseph Horne Holmeses, in the Pittsburgh Golf Club. And the clubhouse was gay with greens, palms and ferns and pots of flamboyant poinsettias. The dinner tables were centered with poinsettias and lighted by scarlet tapers.

The hostess, who received with her niece, wore black net in the princess mode, fashioned with a brief train.

* * *

Three buds were guests of honor, Lydia Irish, Nancy Allderdice, and Frances Forsyth.

The hostess wore green brocade and Lydia, green chiffon; and Frances, green lace. And Frances' corsage was of green orchids, did you notice? Nancy wore an interesting gown of beige crepe with the long, irregular hem-line faced in cerise.

Among the guests were the Edward B. Meyers, who will leave the latter part of the month for their home in Paris. Mrs. Meyer, I might add, is the former Margaret McCargo, daughter of the host and hostess.

And tonight the Frank Stewart Johnstons, of South Highland avenue, will entertain with a dinner for Mary Wharton Knox, debutante daughter of the Roger Knoxes, in the Pittsburgh Golf Club.

LATE yesterday afternoon one of the loveliest weddings I have seen in some time took place, when Lillian Henry Rose, daughter of the George Phelps Roses, of Thorn street, Sewickley, became the bride of John M. Kimball, of Portland, Me.

The Rev. Dr. Alleyne Carlton Howell, rector of the St. Stephen's Protestant Episcopal Church, solemnized the marriage in that church at 5:30 o'clock. Tall, lighted tapers on the altar and on each side of the aisle added a stately solemnity to the occasion. Calla lilies were used on the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore her mother's wedding gown, a charming creation of ivory satin and embroidered crepe, with a collar of rose point lace. The court train fell from the waist and the pointed bodice with long sleeves, full at the shoulders and tight at the wrists, added a quaint touch. Her veil was of tulle and a cap of point lace, an heirloom in her mother's family. She carried an ivory prayer book with a marker of lilies of the valley and orchids.

Mrs. Richard Thomas Frick, her sister, was her only attendant, and wore a dahlia velvet gown with a deep eggshell lace yoke and a full skirt, longer in back, and a close fitting hat of dahlia velvet. Her bouquet was of Empress roses tied with gold ribbon. The bride's mother wore a gown of black velvet with matching hat, and her shoulder corsage was of orchids. Corliss Lamont, of New York, was the best man.

After the ceremony a supper was given in the Rose home for the families and out-of-town guests. A great profusion of variegated flowers decorated the house and the bride's table held Cupid bowls of the same flowers with sunbeam tapers.

The Kimballs left for New York and will sail today for Havana. They will return after February 1 and will make their home in Portland, Me.

Included on the out-of-town guest list were the Leland G. Meanses, Dr. and Mrs. Richard Small, Charles Morrill and Brooks Whitehouse, of Portland, Me.; Mrs. Frederick Kimball, of Bath, Me.; the Junior John C. Smalls, of Boston, and the Joseph G. Butlers, of Youngstown, O.

SOME time ago I mentioned that I'd learned Eleanor Chalfant's wedding would take place in January. The date is January 27, and the ceremony to take place in the Chalfant home will be simple because of mourning in the family. Before the holidays Eleanor's engagement to John Crossan Cooper, Jr., son of the John Crossan Coopers, of Baltimore, was made known by her mother, Mrs. Henry Chalfant.

* * *

AND an engagement from the East is of much interest here since the girl has visited here, and has Pittsburgh relatives. The Edward Small Moores, of New York, and "The Gables," Roslyn, L. I., have made known the betrothal of their tall, attractive daughter, Marion, to John W. Cross, Jr., son of John W. Cross, of New York, and the late Mrs. Cross.

During the Sewickley horse show in June, Marion was among the spectators, do you recall? She was here as the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Cyrus R. Miller. And Thomas Atterbury McGinley is Marion's uncle, I might add. Her grandmother is Mrs. John R. McGinley, of New York and Pittsburgh. And she is a granddaughter of Mrs. William H. Moore, of New York, and Rock Marge, Prides Crossing, Mass., and of the late Judge Moore, one of the prominent exhibitors and officials of the national horse show.

* * *

IN New York today to attend the Chrysler-Garbisch wedding are the Robert G. Gunns, of Wilkins avenue. And they will be guests at the reception after the ceremony, too. The Chrysler and Gunn families have been friends for a number of years.

* * *

I WONDER if you've heard that young Eleanor Mann, daughter of Bishop and Mrs. Alexander Mann, of Aylesboro avenue, who is a student at the School of Fine Arts and Crafts, of Boston, has just been awarded first mention in the pen and ink class, and first mention in design?

* * *

MRS. WILLIAM HUSTON THOMPSON, of Maple avenue, Edgewood, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Sally Thompson, to Alan Atwell Garland, son of Mrs. Charles Garland, of Edgewood.

Miss Thompson attended Thurston School and Pine Manor, Wellesley, Mass., and is now a student at Miss Illman's School at Philadelphia. Mr. Garland is a Yale man.

AT a luncheon given today in the green room of the Penn-Lincoln Hotel, announcement was made of the engagement of Miss Maude Altha Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Royal Ellsworth Cook, of Trenton avenue, Wilkinsburg, to John G. Inglis, of Pittsburgh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Inglis, of Atwood, Ontario. The engagement will terminate in an early June wedding.

THE various chapters of Allegheny County Star and Crescent Organization held a New Year's party in Utility Hall, Sixth avenue, at 8 o'clock New Year's Eve. Children of the Goodwill Settlement were entertained.

* * *

ON Wednesday afternoon and evening the Ladies of Charity of the Roselia Foundling and Maternity Hospital will hold their annual New Year card party in the reception rooms of the institution. There will be bridge, "500," euchre, old maid and bingo. There will also be an exhibition of fancy work.

MRS. M. A. BENGELE, of Hamilton avenue, announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Virginia Dorothy Bengele, to Clifford Hunter Corbly, son of Mrs. N. Corbly, of Mt. Washington. The engagement will terminate in a wedding on January 22.

LEGLESS GIRL BLAMES MEDIC

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—(INS.)—The dramatic trial to revoke the license of Dr. Henry J. Schireson, plastic surgeon, was to continue today after Miss Sadye Holland, legless from an operation for bowed legs, told her story from an invalid's chair.

Miss Holland's appearance last night before the State Department of Registration and Education threw a sensation into the hearing. The girl was wheeled into the courtroom propped up in her wheel chair.

The girl testified that Dr. Schireson agreed to perform an operation to strighten her legs for the payment of $800 in advance. He told her she said, that he had performed 82 such operations, many of them for school teachers.

Miss Holland agreed to submit to the operation, she told the state medical committee hearing the case, but when informed that a second operation would be necessary Miss Holland testified that she decided she would rather die.

"I knew they were planning to cut my legs off," she declared, "but my family asked me to, so I went through with the operation."

STEINWAY PIANO

The Tuesday Musical Club presented an artist program in Carnegie Music Hall last night, a recital by Jose Mojica, tenor of the Chicago Opera Company, and Troy Sanders, pianist.

J. Fred Lissfelt

And with Mojica, Hollywood enters the concert halls. In a few good songs, this Mexican singer disposed of his duties as a concert singer, and then, donning shawl and sombrero, makeup and spotlight, became the musical Valentino. During his Spanish songs, with the aid of his stage trappings, he still kept his music at least in folk spirit. His final group savored of Woolworth's.

Pittsburgh remembers with pleasure Mojica's performances here with the Chicago Opera. Now, for so young a singer, there appears to be no top voice left. In the air from the "Snow Maiden" he simulated the Russian use of falsetto to further depict the age of the character he played, but his encore, the favorite "Rigoletto" air, brought him many difficulties where his voice should be best. It was most entertaining to observe Mojica's methods, and such songs as the "Clavelitos" displayed his talent in mimicry to perfection. But his performance belonged in a high-class revue.

Troy Sanders played excellent accompaniments from memory. His solo playing was best in De Falla's "Fire Dance," where his hard, brittle tone well expressed the wildness of this ritual dance.

J. FRED LISSFELT.

Heinroth Organ Recital Program

In the arrangement of the organ recital program for this evening Dr. Charles Heinroth has called attention to "Chinoiserie" by Swinnen, a noted Belgian organist. A humorous diversion has been created in this composition, in which, as inferred by the title, some exotic characteristics of Chinese music are exploited. The program:

Overture to "A Life for the Czar"	Glinka
Adagio from Fourth Symphony	Beethoven
Chinoiserie	Swinnen
Sonata in E Minor, Opus 19	Ritter
Allegro Tranquillo Allegro Con Brio.

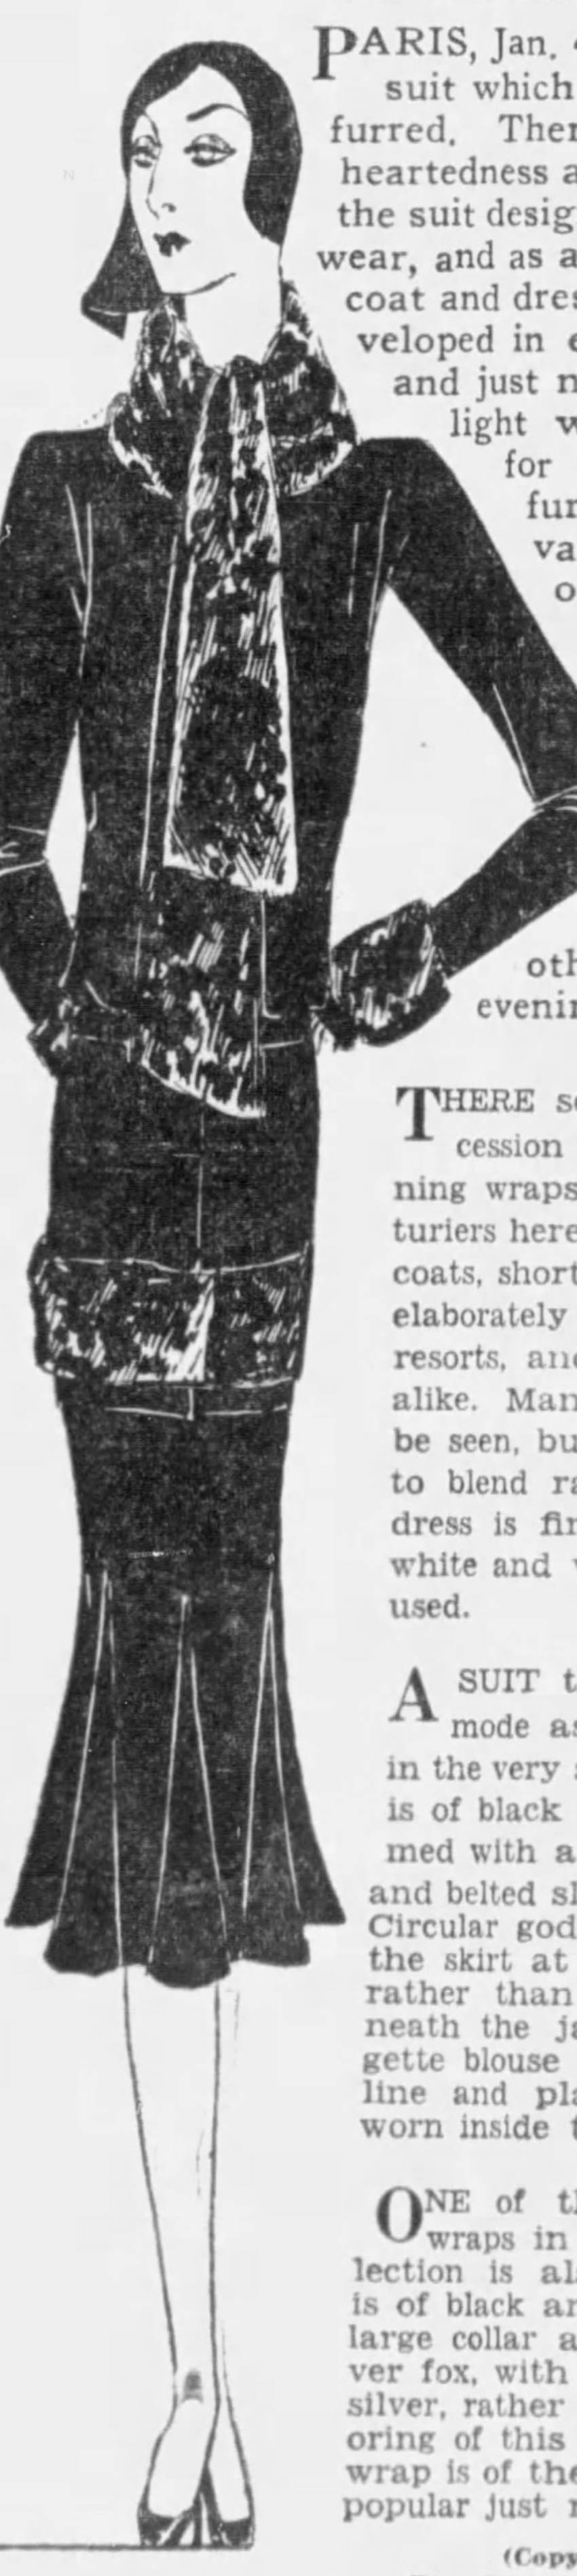
Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.



PARIS, Jan. 4.—Paris proffers her preferred suit which is of woolen, sumptuously befurred. There has been nothing but halfheartedness about the welcome accorded to the suit designed for more formal afternoon wear, and as a pleasing alternative to the coat and dress mode. It has been developed in ever so many materials, and just now is popular in warm light woolen fabrics, suitable for cool days. Both flat furs, and the long-haired variety such as fox in various shades are used in lavish profusion to trim these suits, that despite the most elaborate treatment, retain a trig and youthful air. Black seems to be the most popular color for these suits as well as all other clothes, both for day and evening wear.

* * *

THERE seems to be no end to the procession of magnificent and original evening wraps issuing from the famous couturiers here. Trailing wraps, three quarter coats, short jackets all of rich fabrics and elaborately furred are seen at all the smart resorts, and no two of them seem to be alike. Many evening ensembles are also to be seen, but the short coat that is chosen to blend rather than to complement the dress is first favorite. Black, black and white and various shades of red are much used.

* * *

A SUIT that expresses the whim of the mode as it is just now, is to be found in the very smart model from Molyneux. It is of black woolen fabric, the jacket trimmed with a cravat and bands of broadtail, and belted slightly above the hips. Circular godets are stitched onto the skirt at the front and sides, rather than being set in. Beneath the jacket, a white georgette blouse with a square neckline and plain close sleeves, is worn inside the skirt band.

* * *

ONE of the loveliest evening wraps in Paquin's lovely collection is also shown here. It is of black and white satin. The large collar and cuffs are of silver fox, with a proponderance of silver, rather than the black coloring of this luxurious fur. The wrap is of the length that is very popular just now.

Tuesday Musical Club Members and Friends Hear Jose Mojica

IT was a thoroughly representative Tuesday Musical Club audience—one that wore its prettiest frock and took its husband and friends with it—that attended the Jose Mojica recital in Carnegie Music Hall last night. The indefatigable Othelia Averman Vogel and her committee had given the hall an unwontedly gay appearance with stage decorations of palms and ferns and screens and out in the foyer against the big fireplace was another banking of greenery.

Against this Mr. Mojica and his pianist, Troy Sanders; Mrs. Arthur B. Siviter, president of the club; Mrs. W. C. Dierks, president of the State Federation of Music Clubs; Mrs. T. C. Donovan, treasurer of the National Federation of Music Clubs, and Mrs. Vogel, who is Tuesday musical's program chairman, stood in the reception line after the concert.

Mr. and Mrs. Siviter, Mrs. Dierks, Mrs. Donovan and Mr. and Mrs. Vogel entertained parties in four boxes, the Siviter guests being Mrs. Siviter's brother-in-law and sister, Judge and Mrs. Richard M. Martin; her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. McFall, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Butts. Mrs. Donovan's guests were Mrs. James Stephen Martin and her daughter, Miss Ruth Martin, while across the house Mrs. Dierks was hostess to Mrs. Louise Ashley, Mrs. F. F. Rohrer and Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Husemen. With Mr. and Mrs. Vogel were Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. McHugh, Mr. and Mrs. John Felix McGraw, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Dauer, Dr. and Mrs. R. A. D. Gillis and Dr. and Mrs. Charles Bowen. Mrs. Siviter's gown was of figured chiffon, Mrs. Vogel wore green and rose lame, Mrs. Dierks, black lace, and Mrs. Donovan, blue crepe.

NEW YORK AUTO SHOW READY

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—(AP.)—The thiriteth annual national automobile show opens today in Grand Central Palace with 300 of the latest creations of the automotive world displayed by 46 American and two foreign manufacturers.

Each of the four floors of the palace has a color scheme of its own in the decoration plan for the show. The first floor is in cardinal red, the second in golden brown, the third in mignonette and the fourth in tropical blue.

The trend toward eight-cylinder motors is emphasized in this year's exhibition in which approximately half of the cars on display have power plants of the eight-cylinder type as compared with about a dozen last year. A 16-cylinder model is exhibited by Cadillac and two front-wheel drive cars built by the Cord and Ruxton companies are being shown.

The show will be closed tomorrow and reopened Monday to continue throughout the week.

Several manufacturers are holding private exhibits in hotels and a number of trade dinners and other functions will be held during the show.

Opening of the exhibit will be broadcast through WEAF and associated radio stations at 5 p. m. Eastern Standard time, today.

MYSTERY CAR DE SOTO 8

NEW YORK, Jan. 4. — The eight-cylinder automobile that stormed the steep side of Ligonier Mountain, in Pennsylvania, last fall, attracting the attention of some of the country's foremost writers on automobile topics, is now revealed as the new De Soto Straight Eight, companion-car to the De Soto Six. For weeks the engineering staff testing the new car drove it against the sharp mountainside, pitting it against the best eights the market affords, in the most gruelling tests that an automobile can be given.

A well-known automobile writer who witnessed some of the Ligonier Mountain trials of the new De Soto Straight Eight said:

"The cars were sent up the mountainside in all sorts of tests, loaded and unloaded. Each trip was carefully logged. All would climb the mountain with only the driver, but as the load was increased they would fail one by one until only the mystery eight and one of the more expensive cars would climb the steep highway in high gear."

Announcement of the new De Soto Eight was made on the eve of the New York Automobile Show. It also was announced that part of the New York exhibit would be brought here for the Pittsburgh automobile show.

OAKLAND EIGHT EXHIBITED

The Oakland motor car today makes its debut as an eight cylinder automobile. It is being introduced by C. A. Rehtmeyer, Inc., Allegheny County distributor for Oakland and Pontiac, and associated dealers. With it also is being shown the new series Pontiac Sixes.

An announcement by C. A. Rehtmeyer revealed that the new Oakland Eight is the mystery car that recently was driven over the tortuous grades of South Negley avenue and Tokio street in high gear. The motor of the new car, of V-design, was developed during three years of intensive experiment and research week. It employs many new principles of design. One of these features is that it has a stroke that is shorter than the measurement of the bore.

The Pontiac Six also has many new refinements, including increased horsepower and a non-glare windshield.

CHICAGO 'FIRES' 1,573 WORKERS

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—(INS.)—Chicago's police force was decreased today when 473 policemen were discharged in compliance with the curtailed appropriation which the city council passed yesterday.

In addition to the cut in the police force, 1,100 other employes were discharged from various other city departments. Almost as many more workers are scheduled for dismissal, it is indicated due to lack of funds.

Meanwhile, confusion reigned in the City Hall. Fire Commissioner Goodrich decided not to discharge 235 firemen, fearing there was too much responsibility connected with the action.

Guy Sees Two Kidnapers When He Flies Over The Canyons

CHAPTER XLIX.

A PLANE flashed across the canyons. It went swiftly—high and brilliant in its solitude. It began weaving bridges over the mighty gorges. Back and forth in endless silver arcs. As though it would not leave one stone in all the savage waste unspotted.

Since the first light of day, the plane had traversed those rocky cliffs. Their color made a gorgeous blaze in the pilot's mind. He leaned from the cockpit and thought with panic: "God, there's no end to them! A thousand of these chasms!" And in any one, a girl and a little boy could be eternally lost. Two months ago a plane crashed here: not a bone or splinter of ship or human was yet found.

But Guy flew low. He skimmed the stones in a fury of denial that Pat would ultimately elude him. She was here. Somewhere in the vast, labyrinthian gorges. From here she had called. He listened with heart and mind and soul as though Pat's spirit would now repeat that urgent cry—would draw him down to her.

Hour upon hour his desperate cruise went on. Twice he flew back to Kingman to refuel. And twice he saw in the blue distance other planes. They, too, were searching for Pat and the lost child. William Bryce would make it worth the while of any pilot who brought his grandson back to him. Volunteer ships by the score were lured by the huge rewards now posted. They sped to the canyons when the report of Pat's S. O. S. was flashed. The whole bitter abyss would be combed. It MUST yield up the lost!

But noon came. The sun blazed. The wilderness beneath Guy lay in a still, glaring quiet. Not a breath, not a move gave sign that life moved over ledge or floor.

At 2 o'clock he was in Kingman. The mechanic filled his tank to the brim. He loaded extra cans of gas in the cabin, remarking as he worked: "You won't have light out there much longer. Sun sets early now."

"Dozen or more. Say, that fellow Elliott broke jail in Frisco. Police want him. They're flying here—two planes. Bryce has sent three—passed here an hour ago. See them? Lucky fellow that picks off that reward. Good Luck!"

Guy climbed to the cockpit. He wiped dry, burning eyes. An hour to fly back, then an hour and a half, two hours at best of light remaining. And already nearly 48 hours were gone since Pat had called.

Again he looked down upon the unlimited, bewildering reaches—mountains sheer and gaunt climbing to the skies; gorges plunging down to black bottomless pits. The whole terrifying scene shocking him with its stark unfamiliarity. He did not even feel sure that he had touched this area before. He circled desperately.

Now it was 3 o'clock, now 3:30. Ominously the shadows began trooping up from the abyss.

They moved with royal, fantastic splendor up the canyon walls. They turned from crimson to purple, fading slowly, ominously. Night would soon be coming on. Another day lost. He grew taut. He murmured aloud his leaping fears—Pat starving—Pat dying—Pat calling and calling—oh, find her, Great God, before the light is gone!

He had but an hour more. Within this hour he must land somewhere here or fly back to Kingman. At Kingman the police might trap him; might forcibly withhold him from the search.

He would not return! Crash first! He leaned far out and surveyed the ridge upon ridge. He yearned over these precipices as though any moment they would open and Pat would stand revealed.

Suddenly his heart was in his throat; suddenly his eyes glazed. A plateau spread out beneath him—a vast, level table, jutting abruptly between lofty cliffs. And on this plateau he saw a plane.

He swooped low; he cried out: "God!" His whole body tingled; his mind flamed with an awareness of conflict, of imminent life and death struggle.

He would not yield to the crazed hope that shouted: "My plane! She's there! Pat's there!"

He came down and down, swinging far out over the abyss. As he drove inward to the plateau, a movement on the cliff focussed his attention. Something moved cautiously up the burning mountain side; something bowed down like a man under a heavy weight. Now it clawed the naked bluffs; now it crouched and slid its burden to the ground.

Guy made out clearly the strange, exhausted figure. It was a man kneeling motionless beside some prostrate thing. Suddenly the man pointed upward. He waved an arm toward the plane. Then he got guardedly to his feet. He began working upward, leaving his companion, swathed in folds of yellow cloth, lying there on the ledge.

Bristling now with awareness he shot upward. High upward. He got his pistol and his rifle. Cautious! They, too, might have rifles.

What could be the meaning of the fellow's abnormal stealth? Why was he hiding behind that shaft?

In a deathly calm he swept again and again over the plateau. Make sure! Good God make sure to get them!

One hundred yards from that sandstone shaft he came gliding easily, perfectly to rest. He sat in the cockpit, head down. Then he drew his pistol and shouted, blazing toward the shaft: "Come out!"

Stale Bread

A good way to use up stale bread is to spread it lightly with margarine or butter, place in a pie-dish containing a little milk and a well-beaten egg, and bake in a moderate oven for half an hour. This is a dish that will be greatly appreciated by children.

Chicken Salad

To 2 parts of chicken add 1 part of minced celery, salt, pepper, a little oil and vinegar and three tablespoons of mayonnaise. Mix well and arrange in a bowl which has been lined with lettuce. Garnish with boiled eggs, quartered, and olives. A strip of pimiento adds color.

Makes Boots Waterproof

To make your winter boots quite waterproof, tip about a quarter of a pint of linseed oil in each boot. Stand them on a tray, and in about a week the oil will have soaked right through the soles and to the top of the uppers.

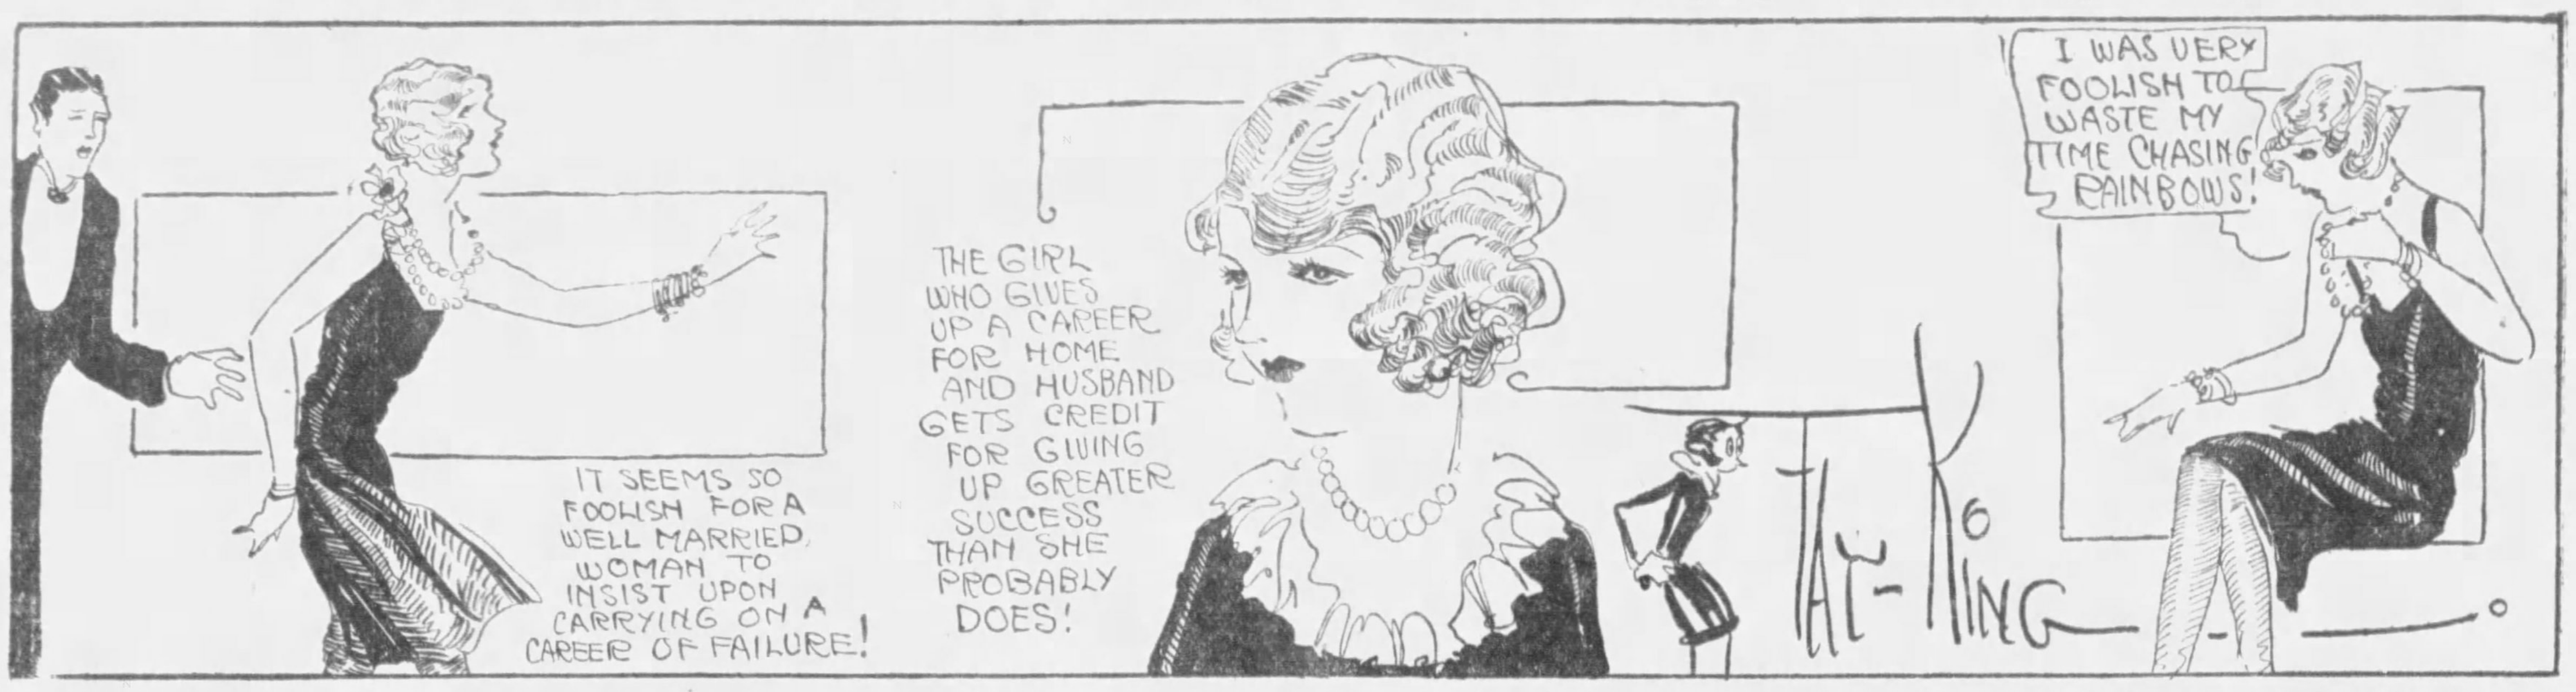
It's a Clever Woman Who Gives Up Career for Happy Home—Fay King



IT SEEMS SO FOOLISH FOR A WELL MARRIED WOMAN TO INSIST UPON CARRYING ON A CAREER OF FAILURE!
THE GIRL WHO GIVES UP A CAREER FOR HOME AND HUSBAND GETS CREDIT FOR GIVING UP GREATER SUCCESS THAN SHE PROBABLY DOES!
FAY-KING
I WAS VERY FOOLISH TO WASTE MY TIME CHASING RAINBOWS!

By FAY KING

IT SEEMS a pity that women, who have married wealthy men, insist upon pursuing careers in which they have had little success.

Instead of settling down to a career of content in their fine homes with these devoted husbands, they prefer to continue flirting with failure.

On the other hand, the pretty and clever woman, who willingly gives up her career at marriage, is given credit for giving up a greater success than she probably would have attained.

But as unsuccessful competitors, lacking ability, and darkening their home life with the disappointment of failure, they cease to be enviable, and are only ridiculous!

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Mary and Noel Continue to Play the "Game"

THERE was something in Princess Olina's tone as she told Prince Georges he ought to be in Trees which caught the attention of all of us. And the reaction of the young price to her call held that attention for the few seconds that the two stared at each other like children at play suddenly brought face to face with reality.

"I know it, Olina," he answered almost immediately, and then had come that long tense look at each other, a gaze of which I think both were hardly conscious. For that moment they were thousands of miles away from us, united by their heritage of tradition and duty, caught in the thrall of obligations the compelling power of which the rest of us could but dimly comprehend.

It was Mary who broke the spell. She was sitting next to Georges, and she leaned forward and put her hand upon his arm.

"Wake up! Georgie!" she said, her voice lifting, laugh-filled. "It isn't all true. You don't have to go back to the mines yet . . . . never, if you don't want to. If you ask me, there are a lot of things more fun than being a king, and I can think of a heap more comfortable seats than a throne. If I were you, I'd chuck the whole thing, send word to that bad cousin he can have the old throne, you're going to stay in the good old U. S. A. Then we could lift this darned quarantine, and get out for a real time. Sorry about the unkie and cousin, of course, but you're not really heart sick about 'em, you know, so why worry? Come on up to the roof and bat a tennis ball against the wall. It will clear the cobwebs out of your bean."

Ase she finished her outrageous speech, her shining laughing eyes were looking straight into the astonished ones of her fiance. That she had shocked him almost beyond measure I knew from the look of horrified incredibility on his face. That she had meant thus to shock him I suddenly knew, and feared no more for Mary's attitude in this game of hearts and coronets. She was playing her game in her own way, but her whole heart was in it.

"Are you perhaps, mad?" she asked, addressing Mary directly, "that you can even jest about things like this? I trust it was a jest. It would be intolerable if you meant what you have just said."

I saw Mary's proud little head lift itself, and her eyes, gleaming with mirth—and malice—sweep Olina's face and figure insolently. The natural antagonism between the two girls, always carefully hidden, was betraying itself. I was conscious of it as of something sentient, lurking in the room.

"Oh! be yourself, old geranium," Mary retorted, laughing, "and remember where you are. That heroic stuff may go all right in a throne room or in one of the historical-romantic-talkies, but it couldn't be redeemed for five cents on the dollar in this circle. Noel, haven't you cured her of that nonsense yet? I'm ashamed of you. How about it, Georgie? Are you coming up to the roof with me?"

They were all standing now, for when Olina had risen from her chair, Noel and Georges automatically had left their own seats. And with Mary's last words, she too, had risen, and was looking up in Prince Georges' face, her own so exquisitely winsome, and so provocative, that I understood why the horrifieed look faded from his face, and why he caught up the little hand lying on his arm and kissed it.

"You are a naughty child," he said, but there was tenderness in his chiding tones, and as they walked toward the closet in search of tennis racquets and sweaters, I saw that Prince Georges, though startled and shocked by Mary's unexpected crassness, was still in the leading strings of his infatuation for her.

I stole a look at Olina. Her hands were clinched at her sides, her head thrown up much like a long-distance runner making a desperate effort for place, and the great dark eyes which I mentally had likened to black pansies were blazing with the anger she patiently was throttling. Mary's airy insolence had made ridiculous any further exhibition of anger or even disapproval on her part, and she was keen enough to see her disadvantage and master it.

It was at this point that Noel intervened with a lack of tact which was masterly when one considered the object he had in view.

"Please control yourself, my dear," he said. "You will be ill if you yield to your emotions like this."

Household Hints

If a pinch of baking soda is added to fruit while cooking, considerably less sugar will be required to sweeten it.

A weak solution of turpentine poured down the water pipes once a week will drive away water bugs.

Stiff paint brushes will become pliable again if soaked bristle-deep in vinegar heated almost to boiling point.

Potatoes bake more quickly and are more palatable if allowed to soak for a few minutes in hot water before being put in the oven.

A wringer that has become stiff can be remedied by smearing a little vaseline between the teeth of the wheels. After applying the vaseline, turn the wringer sharply for a minute or so.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

The Inconvenient Husband

A HUSBAND used to be a necessity or an achievement—something to brag about. But, nowadays, he is just something that a girl has to explain—or apologize for.

When mother got married, everybody said, "Thank heaven!" and came around to congratulate her.

But now, when a girl marries, everybody says, "For Heaven's sake!"—and comes around to find out why she did it.

The truth is that, around the house, a husband is still as necessary as a clock, as impressive as a door-plate and as comfortable as a chaise-lounge. But, nobody stays "around the house" any more!

And, at parties, a husband cramps your style and crimps your game. He seems to have no more place at a party than a pair of goloshes or a New England conscience.

Just as you are feeling right "in the picture," he trumps your ace or vanity with some "big, wholesome truth," such as that your lip-rouge is on crooked, or your back needs powdering.

Just as you are running along on all cylinders, he tells the man you have been vamping that you'll have to go home, now, on account of your sciatica, or because the baby may wake up—and your engine goes dead!

Besides, a husband at a party is as much responsibility as an expensive umbrella. You've got to drag him around on your arm all evening; because the moment you park him, anywhere, some other woman is apt to pick him up and walk off with him.

At parties, there appear to be only two kinds of husbands. The kind that you have to drag there—and the kind that you have to drag home!

The kind that pays too much attention to other women—and makes you furious; and the kind that gets furious because other men pay too much attention to you.

The kind that is always getting in the way—and the kind that is always getting off in a corner with the stags, the punch-bowl, or another woman.

The kind that tries to be "the life of the party"—and the kind that glumps around and looks as though he were waiting for the pallbearers to arrive.

Oh, yes, you can't do without a husband around the house. But the acute problem of what to do with a husband at a party will have to be settled by a White House conference.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Expressing Gratitude for Sympathy

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

My mother has just passed away. Will you kindly word a letter of thanks for me to send to friends and relatives for their floral offerings?

I have received a great deal of help from your column and have always admired the courteous and explicit way in which you answer questions.

READER.

I AM so glad that you are going to write your notes of thanks for the thoughtful kindness of your friends. This is the only really correct form and taste, except in cases where thousands of messages are received, as in the case of a public man or woman of great prominence.

A short note is enough—one or two sentences. Something like this:

My Dear Mrs. Smithson:

You are most kind to send such a beautiful message of sympathy, and we appreciate it very much. The beautiful roses, too, told us of your friendship and of your sweet understanding. Thank you so much.

Yours very sincerely,

Glove and Long-Sleeved Gown

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please advise me whether it is proper to wear full length gloves with a long sleeved bridal gown, and also whether it is proper to remove your gloves when shaking hands.

ROSE.

WITH the long-sleeved wedding gowns that are generally worn nowadays, it is not necessary to wear long gloves, or indeed any gloves at all. Of course, if you wish, and if you think that it will add to the completeness of the custome, it would be quite proper for you to wear short sleeves. But not long ones.

The Fraternity Pin Engagement

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Through your column I have received some very valuable information. I enjoy reading your articles and there is nearly always something that helps me. Now I have a problem.

The young man I go about with has given be his fraternity pin. He has given it to me, of course, as a symbol of our engagement. I wonder—am I to announce my engagement to my friends immediately—just how, and should it be by a little note or at an informal dinner? We do not intend to be married for a few years, as he has to finish his college education and I am only a senior in high school. Or should I do nothing about it? L. H.

IT'S impossible for an outsider to advise about this, dear L. H., for it can only be determined by the family circumstances, and what your parents wish and advise. And probably, since you are still only in high school, and therefore very young, and since your fiance has not finished his formal education yet, and since there are several years to wait, your family will think that it is the way of wisdom to "wait" to make this important announcement.

Congratulating the Engaged Couple

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you kindly tell me the appropriate way to congratulate an engaged couple when you happen to meet them, or are invited out to dinner with them?

M. C.

OFFER your "best wishes for happiness' to the fiancee, and your "congratulations" to the fiance. This is the fundamental rule. And to these words add anything that would be appropriate, considering the degree of friendship that you have with the couple.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Don't Let Weather Decide Ventilation.

DR.COPELAND

WINTER days ought to have a really healthful and tonic effect upon us humans. If we could harden ourselves physically by vigorous exercise in the open air, and build up the tissues of the body so that we had proper resistance to the cold, then the winter months would be most beneficial to us.

You make your home safe for winter. You overhaul your heating plant and you see that your house is in condition. You stock up on winter clothes. Why not take an inventory of your health? Have a physical examination?

Everyone should have a physical examination every so often. Have a physician look you over. He may find you "sound as a nut," or, if you have some slight difficulty that needs correction, you will be, or ought to be, very glad to know it. "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," is only too true in this respect.

It wasn't so long ago that people were afraid of night air and sunshine. Even today some have an aversion to open windows at night in their sleeping rooms. Everyone should know that wide open windows at night are health-giving and health-restoring. Cold air, wet air and wind are tonics for the well person.

Cold air, wet air and wind—they are all good for us. Everyone should get into the habit of being outdoors in the sunshine at least an hour every day. Even the mothers and housewives, who find their day's work almost more than they can cope with, owe it to themselves and their families to get out-of-doors part of every day in the year. If a day comes when you cannot get out of doors, open the windows wide for a few minutes at a time and air your living rooms. Let the invigorating winter air flood your rooms from five to 10 minutes and see how much better you will feel for it. It is a scientific fact that letting stale air escape from a room really creates a condition the better to warm it.

There are tonic effects of cold on a healthy body. All the organs of the body, the heart and the arteries, feel the thrill. The circulation in the brain is stimulated. You feel a sense of well-being. You can think better.

When you enter the warmth of indoors, the blood surges back to the skin in a warm glow, your entire body feels invigorated. If you walk for an hour or two daily, you will never find fault with the house temperature if it goes down to 60 degrees.

While the fresh, cold winter air is most invigorating, do not forget the beneficial effects of sunshine. There is an old Italian proverb: "Where the sun does not go the doctor goes." Well, that is only too true. Sunshine is essential to human life and health. The vital resistance of the body is greatly influenced by the number of hours one spends each day in the sunshine and open air.

Why not have radiant winter health?

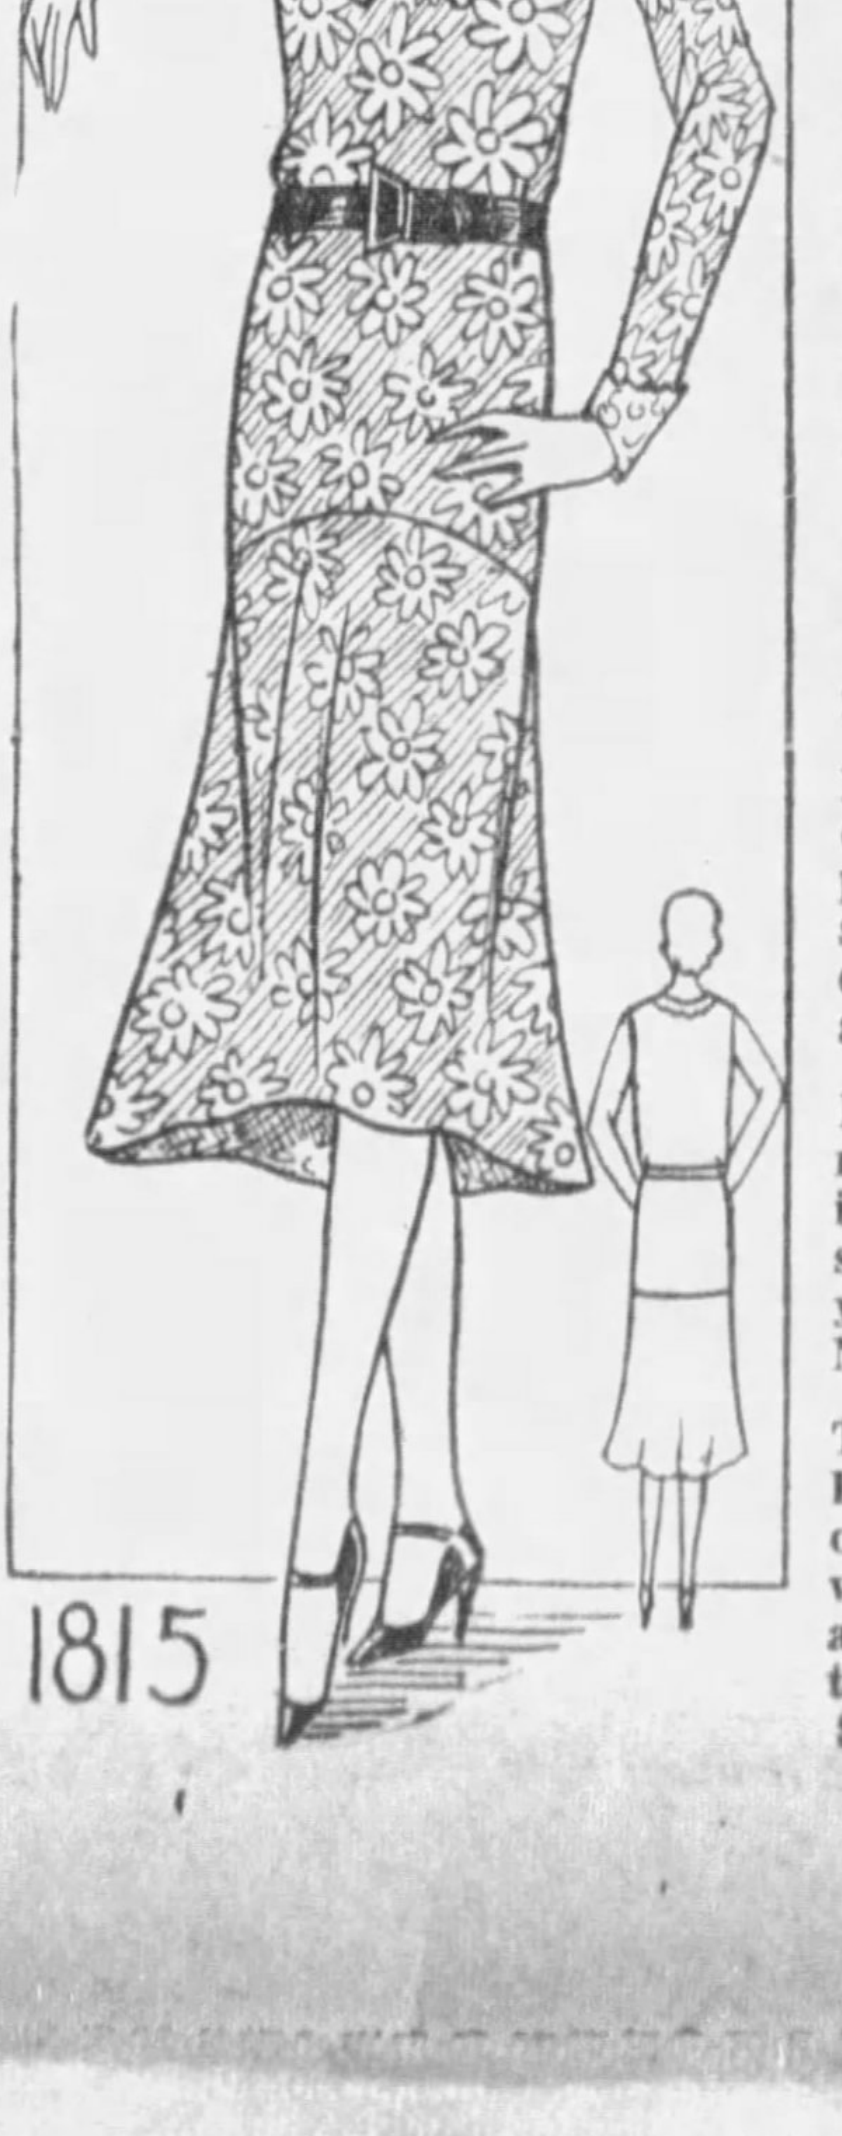
"Delightful Spring Print"

Pattern 1815

Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS



1815

This dainty frock presents a moderated version of the new silhouette, characterized by the semi-fitted bodice, the raised belt and the skirt dip in back. A feminine touch is added with collar and cuffs of lace. Note the curved line of the flare corresponding with the hem line.

Design 1815 is made of printed silk crepe—gayly colored flowers against a dark background. Rose, blue and yellow on black—beige, green and yellow on brown—dahlia, green and tan on green—are just a few of the new color schemes shown. A leather belt is worn with this frock.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model. The pattern has ample and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size. A perfect fit is guaranteed.

Patterns will be delivered upon request of FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped or stamps. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

The NEW WINTER FASHION BOOK is FIFTEEN CENTS, but only TEN CENTS when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and order to Sun-Telegraph Pattern Department, 243 West 17th St., New York City.

Walter Winchell
On Broadway

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.

THE last words have been said—the last vows broken,
The play is over and the curtain down,
Nothing remains, no, not the slightest token

I am a magic mystery no longer,
And you are bored to tears with all my ways;
Now you have need for someone fairer, stronger,
To lavish romance on the coming days.

I will start out when Winter's reign is over,
Searching for all the glamour that was mine,
Inns that are gay with Spring will cheer a rover,
There will be maids and music—waste and wine.

And when the breezes drift in from the South—
I will forget the strangeness of your mouth!

—Filstac.

TEE-HEE

"IN accordance with his annual custom," growls F. P. A. in the World, "Mr. Frank J. Wilstach has issued his 'Best Smiles of 1929.' Among them, credited to us, is 'Shut up as tight as a tabloid columnist at 5 a. m.' We never said it; we never wrote it; we are incapable of having thought of it, as to us it has no significance whatever. We have never seen a tabloid columnist at 5 a. m.; we have never seen a tabloid columnist tight; Mr. Walter Winchell, the only t. c. we have ever seen more than once, does not, so far as we know, drink anything stronger than coffee."

Hic!

A FORM OF CRITICISM

It was at William Frawley's New Year's Eve party. The clever comedian was talking about a certain theatrical manager best known for his hard-boiled manner.

MERCILESS TRUTH

IT is Harry Jans' report that one of the Broadway theater managers has had seven failures in a row, with one almost on the verge of folding up now. A Salvation Army lassie ankled up to him in the lobby the other night, and he started to dodge her. "I want no coins from you," she comforted, "just please tell me where to stand to catch the biggest crowds coming out."

"Across the street at the Roxy!" he thundered.

VAUDEVILLE GLOSSARY

(By Geo. Jean Nathan)

Artiste: A vaudeville actress who carries her own plush curtain... Team: A term applied to two vaudeville actors who get twice as much money as they deserve... Wop: A term of derision directed at an Italian who earns a difficult livelihood digging 10 hours a day at subways by an American actor who earns an easy livelihood digging 20 minutes a night at Ford autos...Headliner: A performer of whom audiences in the legitimate theaters have wearied . . Mind-reader: A vaudeville performer who imagines the members of a vaudeville audience have minds to read.

AND THEY HANG PICTURES!

MICHAEL GOLD, listed as a "radical" playwright, penned a piece called "Fiesta," which was taken for production by the Harvard Dramatic Society. After one performance in Cambridge, a year ago, the censors stopped it for its obscenity. When informed of it, Gold boasted to the press: "That's great. I thank the Massachusetts bluenoses for making me famous and rich. That means New York will flock to it."

Several months later "Fiesta" was presented in New York, where it perished after a brief engagement, not because the police stopped it, but because it couldn't attract trade. And now for comfort Mr. Gold hammers away at the drama critics, maintaining, like all playwrights who let failure go to their heads, that the critics are on the payrolls of the 'capitalistic press" with instructions to roast offerings of the so-called "radicals."

Mr. Gold doesn't explain why he accepts the backing of that well-known capitalist, Otto H. Kahn.

THE REAL NEW YORKER

THAT old Demon Runyon, better known as The Stinging Fool, raps Gene Tunney in his N. Y. American bureau as being one of 1929's High-Hats. Runyon infers that Tunney's aloofness gives him the Tunneyache and that he remembers when he Wasn't Such a Much. Well, there is this to report. Gene Tunney is getting a taste of How It Feels To Be One Of The Rabble. At the premiere of a swankey show this week the retired champ, who is suffering from white collar poisoning, sat in a front pew and between the acts mingled here and there. But the audience, it seemed, Couldn't Be Bothered, as it usually is when celebrated persons are breathing the same air.

You could hardly get through the lobby, however, for the crowd which collected about a guy named Al E. Smith, who wears his tall millinery only at funerals.

NOVELETTE

YOU probably were among that huge army of playgoers who witnessed the play. Jeanne Engels starred in it, if you like hints. At any rate, the author of the famous show had a difficult time of it before it was accepted, and a chum who Is In The Money persuaded the playwright to accept some financial aid "until the breaks came."

The aspiring author was very grateful to his chum. "You've been so wonderful," he said, "that I am going to put Grace's name on the manuscript as co-author!" The chum was thrilled, for surely it would thrill his sweetheart to see her name on a Broadway show, and their romance would be all the more binding. The young author even split royalties with her!

The show finally knocked Broadway dead, as we say in the old country. But the sweetheart's royalties were so tremendous she got rich and eventually gave her sweetie the air.

HEHEHEH

He is going to have Germany win the war!

GOLDMAN FINDS TRADE SECURE

The stock market crash did not affect the vast majority of workers and business conditions are generally sound, Julian Goldman, of New York, president of a chain of haberdashery and department stores, assured a convention of his store managers of the Western Pennsylvania district yesterday, in Pittsburgher Hotel.

Mr. Goldman presented an analysis of the market, made recently at the request of President Hoover.

"Consumer credit is the foundation of American prosperity," said he. "So long as the consumer continues to buy on his credit, prosperity will be unaffected by any stock market collapse or individual business failures. I find the automobile industry is resuming operation, that the Christmas rush was as great as ever and that the coal industry, due to the recent cold wave, is working at a higher peak than any attained in the last four years."

Skating Boy Killed When Hit by Auto

BELLAIRE, O., Jan. 4.—John Fry, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Fry, of Bellaire, was killed while roller skating along the street, when he was run down by a machine driven by Charles Nay, of Bellaire.

TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

FRISBY SOLVES BANK MYSTERY

Says Forgotten Deposits Come as Pleasant Surprise

WASHINGTON.—Printed reports declaring that millions of dollars in forgotten deposits are held by banks, with no one to claim money, Congressman, Frisby today offered to solve the mystery.

"For years," declared the Congressman, "I realized that there was something I had forgotten—but I could not think what it was. Perhaps I deposited this money, and then the matter slipped my mind. Therefore, I have decided to offer to accept the money, and let the burden of proof rent upon the banks to convince me that it is not mine."

NOSTALGIA

When Mr. Curtis Wilbur was Secretary of the Navy he announced that he wanted it to be a floating university. His dream has come true, for the enlisted men are writing poetry, and sending it to there home town papers. Here is a gem from the Monterey Park Progress—

As we sit under the stars tonight
We can always do our bit
Keep on boosting Monterey Park
For it's the latest hit.

Chorus:
Friendship comes and—
Friendship goes;
Kind thoughts shall fail us never,
Love abides in every one
Monterey Park shall boom forever.

It has its own Fire Department
Also a Police Station too;
It's the greatest little town you ever saw
For protecting the children too.

If service is what you crave for:
You surely can find it there,
Just try speeding along the street
And "Old Jonnie" will be there.

Now I am in the U. S. Marine Corps
Aboard the "Queen of the Navy"

She'll always reign the Navy.

New Year of Opportunity To Open for Us Monday

We are on the eve of another new year—the municipal year, which begins with the new term of Charles H. Kline as mayor Monday. At the same time councilmen elected in November will assume office.

Since we are to begin another 12 months of civic endeavor, it behooves us to be as sincere in our resolutions in that respect as those we adopted for personal guidance as of January 1.

Besides the reforming of the lines of city administration and legislation, the first week of the new municipal year will bring activities affecting all citizens in other channels. Among them will be the redistricting of election areas. Districts will be established in accordance with the voting machine act, the liklihood being that boundaries of many of them will be enlarged by consolidation and regrouping.

Another matter to be taken up will be the so-called "dead-end" canal, Pittsburgh to Youngstown, government survey of the route of which is provided in a bill now before Congress. Local promoters of Ohio to Lake Erie canal will discuss that in a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce.

In many respects the new year really begins Monday. It is to be hoped that we will make the most of the opportunities it will bring to us.

People Want Abolition of Tax on Earned Incomes

It is entirely possible to abolish that tax by (1) the introduction of a very moderate manufacturers' sales tax, exempting the necessities of life, and (2) a halt in the speed with which we are paying off our Liberty bonds.

This year we are raising by taxation and paying in interest on the public debt the sum of $656,000,000.

IN ADDITION we are REDUCING the PRINCIPAL of our debt by $775,000,000, of which sum we get $235,000,000 in the form of repayment by foreign governments of sums lent them during the war.

That leaves $540,000,000 RAISED BY TAXATION and used to wipe out the public debt at break-neck speed.

Why?

We have already paid off nearly ten billion dollars of the debt in the last 10 years. At the present rate it will be extinguished in 25 years more.

The European debtors of our government refused to contract to repay the whole of their debts. They said they could afford to pay only half of them. And they could not agree to repay even that half in anything like 25 years. They asked for 62 years to repay, AND GOT IT.

If our citizens are taxed to pay off our entire public debt in 25 years, does anyone think we will get anything from our European debtors during the remaining 37 years of their 62-year payment period?

They and their eager colleagues, who are already campaigning for debt cancellation in our midst, will clamor that the whole American debt—including the funds advanced to the Allies—is paid off. So it will be claimed, why should they have to go on repaying a debt already extinguished?

Why should the government make the American taxpayer pay off our ENTIRE public debt nearly three times as fast as the government asks foreign nations to repay HALF their obligations to our treasury?

If foreign government repayments ALONE are applied to our debt reduction, it will be extinguished in far less than the 62 years for which the Allies have contracted to repay us. Our whole debt now is something over sixteen billions. We get from the Allies this year $235,000,000 or 1½ per cent for amortizing that principal.

The adoption of this policy would make a large sum immediately available for reducing income taxes. They could be cut by $540,000,000, the amount we are raising in taxation for debt reduction this year.

Why do we need crushing taxes on earned incomes in order to wipe out the public debt at a super-human rate unknown in the history of finance?

Commission's Job Is to Supervise, Not Create

The report of the Interstate Commerce Commission suggesting the merger of all our railroads into 21 groups, is a step towards the creation of a true American transportation system.

When that system is finally formed, it will consist of a union of carriers by rail, ocean, river, lake, highway and air, all welded into a great machine for public service.

It is a fair criticism to the commission's plan to say that the commission is not qualified to draw up such a plan. It is a body intended and selected to supervise, not to create. Its proper job in the field of mergers is to examine the proposals of railroads themselves and apply to them the test of public interest. If they pass the test, the mergers should be approved.

Consolidations should accord with the natural development of business and the natural flow of traffic. Railroads naturally seek unions along these lines. When formed, they are profitable to the roads and can be and should be profitable to the public served. It is not likely that unions as advantageous can be dictated by a governmental body of regulators.

Hence it is not surprising to find the commission's recommendations weakened by a string of dissenting reports by its members, with further dissents announced for publication later. It is not surprising that the entire document is rejected by the commission's chief adviser in these matters, Prof. William Z. Ripley, of Harvard, who prepared for them a widely published consolidation plan in 1921.

It is fair to say that the commission recognized its own unfitness for the job imposed on it by the transportation act of 1920. It has repeatedly asked to be freed from the task of proposing these consolidations. The commission ought, therefore, not to be offended if its suggestions are treated as nothing more than the starting point and occasion of further discussions and proposals by the railroads themselves. The public should regard the commission's report as important only in this respect.

Congress should do nothing to make the commission's plan as a whole binding in any way. It should offer every encouragement to the progress of voluntary consolidation by the roads themselves, subject to the commission's stringent investigation and approval.

Taxes Come Home

"Bugs" Baer

This golden gravy represents income taxes and it is an amazing amount to people who think that a state of coma is punctuation.

However, all is not gold that draws interest. The government is a generous Indian giver and will tax all that certified bonus back again on March 15, rain or shine.

Harry Lauder received a little over a thousand and both are welcome. We hope that Harry gets his kilts pressed.

United States Steel toppers the list with twenty-five million refund. When you make a mistake like that you can't blame it on your fountain pen.

The writer didn't get anything back. They must know that we once voted for William Jennings Bryan.

Senator Couzens got a million, more or fewer. When a rich uncle dies it ain't to be compared with a rich uncle turning honest.

Ann Pennington, whose knees are prettier than Senator Couzens, and we will also spot you Harry Lauder, only got nine hundred.

These tax refunds are getting very popular and the government can make itself unanimous by doubling the happy penalties. We will even take an Oxford scholarship in Atlanta.

Nobody would really believe that we resided permanently in Atlanta or Leavenworth because we have the serene faculty of always looking like a visitor.

Now that the big brothers have been cordially indorsed and refunded, when is Andy going to start shellacking us little snipes?

We could stand for a few coatings of gold-leaf and we would appreciate those seven bills that we donated to the Army and Navy forever.

There was also a little matter of three dollars and no cents in back dues for 1919 at the time we became an unwilling charter member.

RAINBOWS IN THE WEST

By Herbert Kaufman

WHILE political pessimism has been groaning the value out of agricultural acreage, the growth of population has meanwhile increased the domestic market for farm products well over ten per cent.

Since 1916, these United States have added fourteen million new inhabitants — which means fourteen million more consumers of fruits, vegetables, grains, poultry and meat products, milk, butter and—what do you raise?

Other business, of course, more or less share the benefit of such augmented buying power.

But only the grower of edibles, fibers, feathers and live stock COMPLETELY inherits this extra outlet.

Every year discovers us with less arable territory and every decade is indefinitely bound to provide further mouths to feed upon it.

CONSEQUENTLY, statistics incline to paint agriculture's prospects in glowing, not gloomy tints. And so do science and efficiency.

In due time, we shall learn to handle our land with the same thrift and canniness as the Scandinavians and the Germans, whose tillage methods and utilization of by-products, have long cast reproach upon the happy-go-luckiness of American husbandry.

The several states and the Federal Government have at last been brought to realize their indifference to rural problems, which persist only because of legislative parsimony and inadequate agencies for the promotion of soil preservation, fertilizing, crop and strain selection, dairying, stock feeding and marketing.

The McNary-Haugen Bill and the various Hoover Commissions are merely preliminary steps of a movement to which the country must devote constantly greater attention or find itself dependent on alien sources of supply, as the birthrate imposes continuously heavier burdens upon intra-territorial resources.

THE next generation will be oppressed with shortages, instead of surpluses, if means aren't considered to bring our enormous reaches of aridity into ultimate bearing.

The period approaches when the farm home will raise heat, light, cooking and motor fuels, as well as beef, pork, dyestuffs and newsprint, in the corn patch.

The stalks, now generally tossed into bonfires, are filled with methane gas, which contains all necessary elements of warmth and illumination. Four acres of such refuse are sufficient for the needs of an average family. Straw, husk and wheat chaff conceal the same energetic properties, and, after fermentation into methane, may be sold for paper pulp.

CHEMISTS at Iowa State College, experimenting with these barnyard wastes, have turned them into synthetic cork, substitute lumber, vegetable glues, wallboard, dextrine, engine fuels, alcohol, lubricants, charcoal, pottery vessels, artificial rubber and an alternate for bakelite. Besides, they promise soon to deliver from farm laboratory retorts cheaper and higher explosives, a variety of anesthetics, benzine and formaldehyde, and eventually expect to manufacture candy-making materials, spice and fruit flavors, coloring matters and perfumes out of litter and piths which yesterday negligently plowed under or left for Winter rot.

Nature has more tricks up her sleeve—AND IN THE GROUND—than present imagination may estimate.

We're just BEGINNING to probe into future wealth; billions still to come from the unsuspected essences and oils in an ear of corn, will alone exceed the worth of all the gold and silver mined from heretohellandback.

∴ LISTEN, WORLD! ∴

By Elsie Robinson

HOLIDAYS . . . pretty hard times for some of us, aren't they, stranger?

Looking back to yesterday . . . thinking of those who've gone . . . dwelling on those happier scenes where we may walk no more . . . and then seeing others laughing all around us—Hurts! Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year—we drift through them like empty shells, with our spirits far away. And often and often we go on drifting, through the year—empty. Our bodies sit in offices and homes, work in factories and stores and schools . . . but we're somewhere else.

We're living in the days that are gone . . . living in memories. Or, perhaps, living in the days that are to come . . . living in hopes. And so today means nothing. Today gives nothing to us because we give nothing to it. And, unreasonable as it may seem, we resent that. We feel that life is cheating us. It isn't. We're cheating life. We're cheating life by refusing to live in it.

This business of living in yesterday is a sick and sinful thing. You belong to TODAY. Your place is HERE. Your job is NOW. And living with your face turned back, will bring you nothing but grief.

Remember Lot's wife? Her city was condemned for its sinfulness and her home must go with the rest. She was told to flee with her husband and "not look back." But she had no heart for this new home-making. She loved her yesterdays. Her body went forward but her spirit lagged. So she turned to look back. And turning, was changed to a "pillar of salt."

That's an old, old story, but it's as true for you this Christmas as it was for the Hebrews in the dawn of history. Your life, too, will be changed to bitter, futile ash if you keep your face turned to yesterday.

Yes, I know you've been hard hit . . . so hard hit that you feel there's no healing. But there IS healing . . . healing in TODAY.

Today holds life and love and adventure for you just as surely as yesterday held them. It isn't exactly the same sort of life, the same love, the same adventure. Nothing ever does stay the same. But the same peace and joy and force will come out of living today as came out of living yesterday... if you have the will and the courage to reach for them.

This doesn't have to be a day of dead dreams . . . it can be a day of new achievement, of fresh and lovely contact, of tingling progress, if you will have it so.

You need only to turn your face ...and step in line...and put your hands to the nearest job...and light the fires of your heart again!

Today has need of you and you have need of it!

Isn't It So?

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS

In Collaboration With

Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

A NUMBER of different kinds of animal are classified with the lobster in a separte phylum, the Arthropoda, just as the vertebrates are classified together in one phylum, because in the general plan of their organization they resemble each other and are profoundly different from other living creatures.

The abdomen of a lobster, we noted, is composed of a series of hard segments, flexibly jointed together; each segment bears a pair of appendages.

H. G. Wells.

The cephalothorax, on the other hand, has a single shield of armor and bears 13 pair of limbs. Now when we examine other arthropods we find that the segmental plan of structure, as illustrated by the lobster's abdomen, is a very important one. It underlies the organization of the whole group.

In many arthropods, such as the centipedes or some of the smaller and less specialized crustaceans, the greater part of the body consists of a chain of hard segments jointed together and each bearing a pair of appendages, and indeed all the members of the group are best regarded as modifications of chains of this type.

In a lobster the first 13 segments are solidly welded together, forming the cephalothorax, only the appendages remaining distinct from each other; in other arthropods the underlying plan has been modified in other ways.

Imagine a chain of segments; an enormously extended lobster abdomen; each segment has a strong armor of skeleton outside it and bears a pair of jointed appendages.

That is a diagrammatic, generalized arthropod. By playing on this scheme, by varying the number of segments, by welding some together and keeping others distinct, by modifying and adapting different appendages for the performance of different functions, the various existing arthropods could be produced.

The idea that the arthropods are variations upon a prevading segmental theme can be applied also to their internal architecture.

All arthropods live inside their skeletons; all have a general body-cavity filled with a pale blue blood; all have a nervous system running along the lower sides, and if, as is usual, they possess a heart it is in the back. But the various structures may shift to and fro along the length of the body, from segment to segment.

The heart, for example, may be a relatively small organ placed in the middle of the back as in the lobster, or it may be a long tube running down most of the length of the body, with a pair of valued openings in each segment.

The position of the excretory, respiratory, and reproductive organs varies from creature to creature. And the structure of the digestive organs varies — there may, for example, be no gastric mill.

And now for a rapid view of the five great classes of arthropods, to note the main changes that can be rung on this underlying theme.

Section 3a. SHRIMPS, CRABS, WATER-FLEAS and BARNACLES.

THE first class of arthropods, the Crustacea, includes a great and varied assemblage of forms. Nearly all of these antimals are aquatic, breathing by means of gills, and most of them are marine—indeed, they are the only great group of marine arthropods.

The more familiar forms—familiar because they are the largest and also because they are edible—are the lobsters, craw-fish, prawns, shrimps and crabs. These animals are all very similar to each other.

A crab is essentially a lobster who has given up the abdomen-flapping method of swimming, and whose abdomen, small and feeble, is permanently bent forward under his broadened cephalothorax.

The hermit-crabs also belong to this group; they are lobster-like creatures whose abdomen is not hard, but soft and delicate, and who have therefore to wear the deserted shell of a dead sea-snail on their hinder parts, not for modesty, but as a protection against the many prowling and hungry creatures of the sea.

Other crustaceans, not quite so well known, are the wood-lice and the group including the so-called fresh-water shrimps, which differ in a number of important points from the true shrimps.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—The fun-loving side of New York is so extravagantly stressed in the outland that one has to live here many years to appreciate the simplicity of the great majority. For instance, 80 per cent of theatrical attendance is transient trade.

A man close to the receipts in box offices is authority for the statement—and has figures to prove it—that the metropolis alone does not provide sufficient patronage to keep 12 theaters open during the season. And there are some 90 theaters to be filled.

The condition existing in the theater, of course, exists in the night clubs, cafes and cabarets. Among 100 "average New Yorkers," probably not more than a half dozen have ever visited the Casino, Sherry's or other such haunts—unless taken there by out-of-town friends.

The visitor sees the side wholly devoted to gaiety and wonders how we go such a pace. He does not realize that the crowds with which he is mingling are also from out yonder. Save in the movies, few New Yorkers are to be found in the Broadway zone after dark.

The great army of New Yorkers who dine out will be found largely in out-of-the-way tea rooms, Southern dinner places or neighborhood cafes where most of the patrons have a nodding acquaintance and are well enough known by the proprietors to be addressed by name.

Only a handful of locals are on the overflowing sidewalks in midtown when lights come on. The real New Yorkers have been battling traffic all day and if they walk it is in the public parks or along deserted residential streets!

* * *

Hale Byers is the dapper leader of an orchestra in a jazz cafe. Every night of his season he slips into a dinner jacket and makes merry until dawn. But on April 1 disappears into the wilderness of a Wisconsin woods where he browses upon leather-bound tomes and, save by his wife and dog, is not seen until mid-October.

* * *

It is reported that when J. P. Morgan has finished banking cares of the day and partaken of his evening meal, he retires before a big open fire in his study, where, with a pipe and mystery novel he proceeds to relax. He is further said to have a standing order for every mystery story as soon as it is off the press.

* * *

This urge mentally to escape from a world of high pressure business has been a windfall for mystery story writers. Almost any detective novel will have an immediate sale of 4,000. This is among those who will buy every thriller that comes along, and if they don't like it are rich enough to read a few passages and toss it aside.

* * *

* * *

The loneliest soul I ever encountered was in a boarding house on West Fifty-seventh street—someone has said every newcomer to New York at some time has lived in a boarding house on that street—years ago. He was a Swiss watch repairer, incredibly hairy and gnomelike, who said that in eight years he had never ventured outside of his hall bedroom, where he always went after dinner. "I have no capacity for making friends," was his explanation, "and it depresses me to see others enjoying themselves."

* * *

In the same boarding house was the wife of a circus lion tamer who had seen her husband torn to death in a pit during a performance. She was gripped by such a stark paralyzing terror that she was unable to move her arms. Although I heard that in recent years their use had been restored.

* * *

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

YOU have planned to do some reading "sometime."

There are many subjects on which you lack knowledge.

In future you will study up—you have said so for years.

But little reading of a beneficial nature is done by you. You are interested in sports and amusement and that is about all you try to keep in touch with when you read. Each year you drift farther and farther from the sort of reading that makes for knowledge and general culture. You find it increasingly difficult to get down to anything which requires concentration for any length of time. In fact if a subject proves to require hard study you drop it.

Are you willing that your years of information seeking should end at the present time?

Are you satisfied with what you know, realizing as you do how much you lack, and are you not going to regret this mind vacancy in later years?

The longer you put off reading good literature the harder it will be for you to do so.
